

Equal Measures

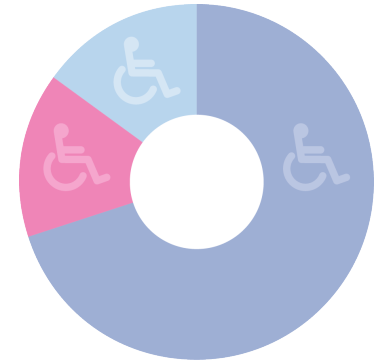

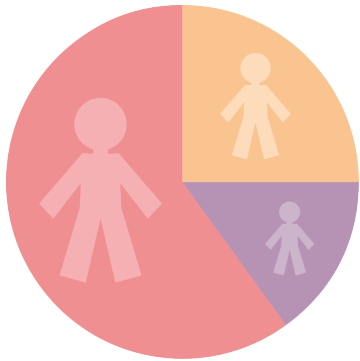

Our equality report for 2014

“ CQC believes everyone should experience good care
- regardless of who they are ”

What do we know?

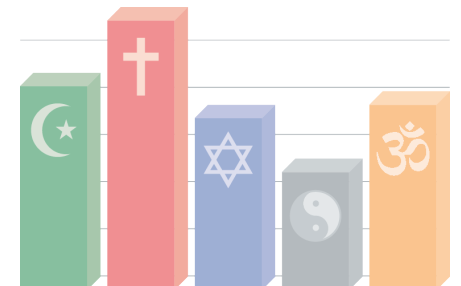

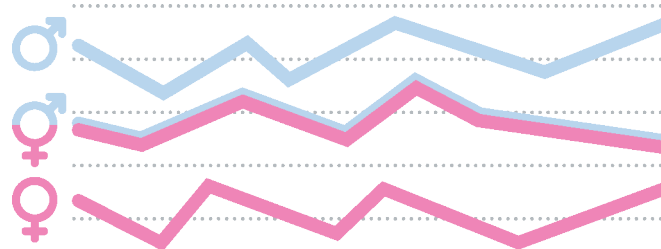

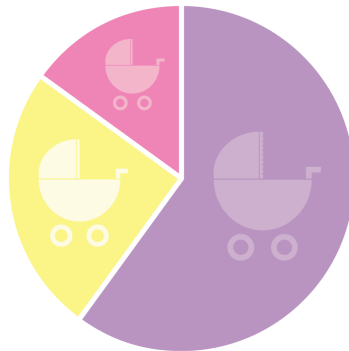

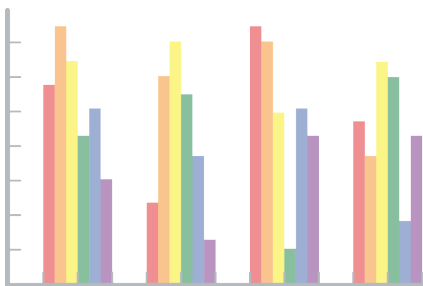

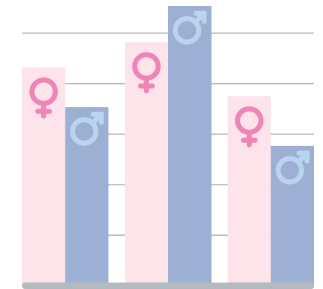

There's too much variation in the quality of care people receive

There's too much variation in equality for staff in health and social care

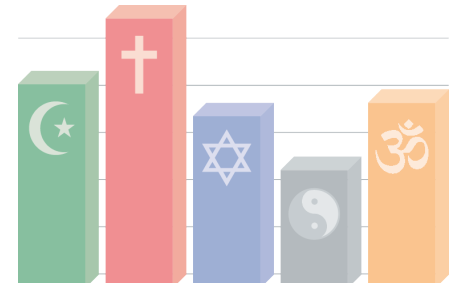

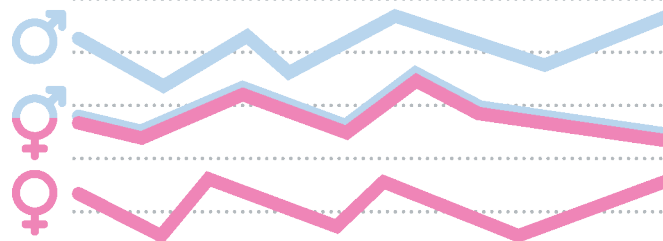

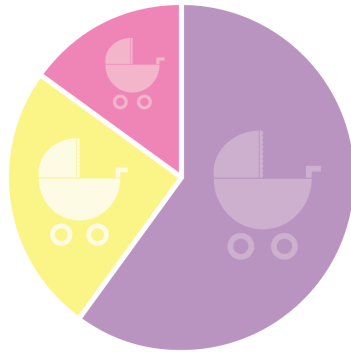

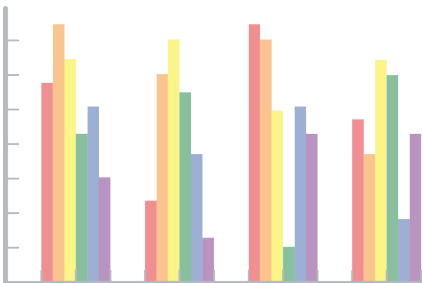

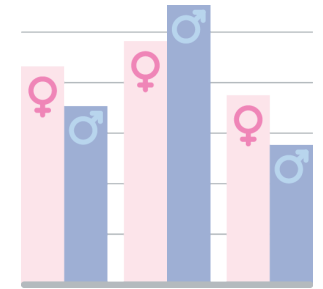

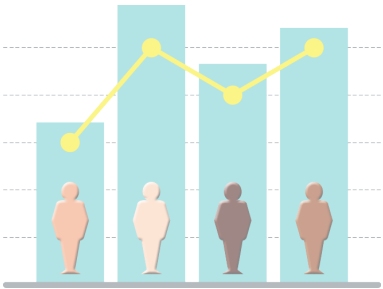

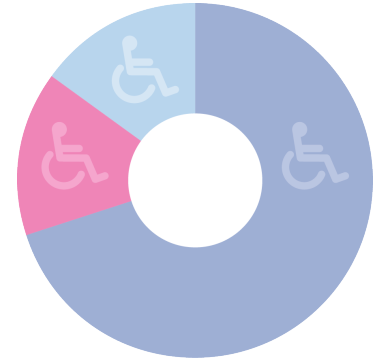

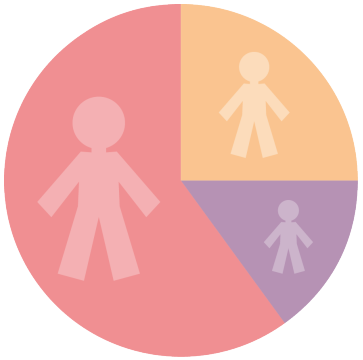

There's been progress in equality for CQC staff but still more to do

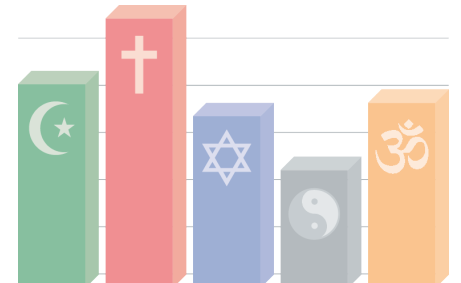

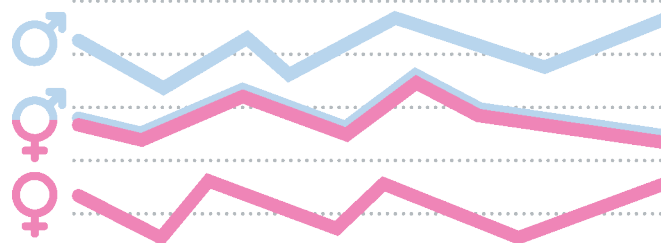

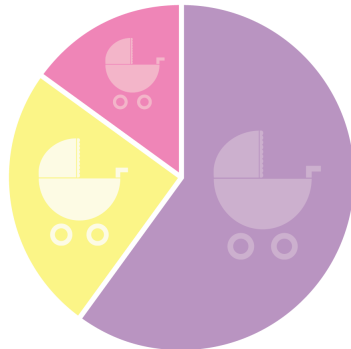

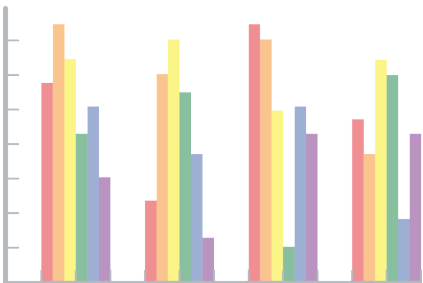

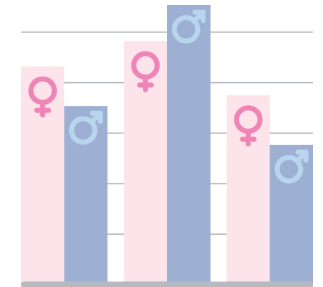

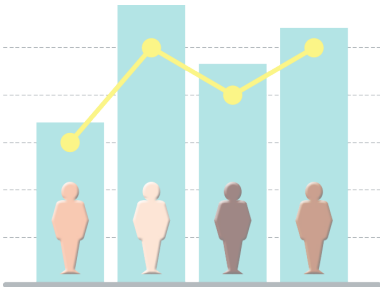

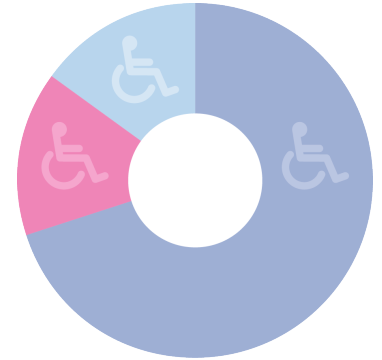

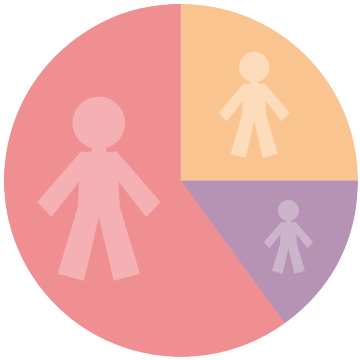

What will CQC focus on?

CQC has five new objectives to help ensure equality through our regulation...

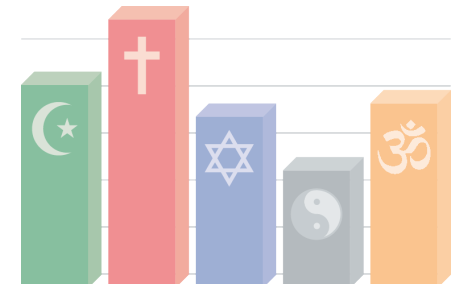

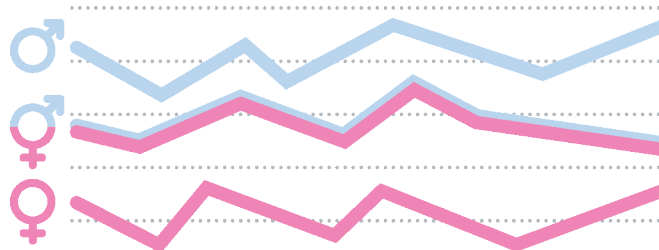

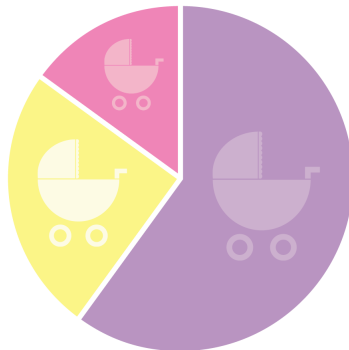

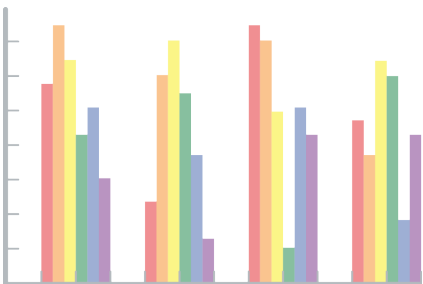

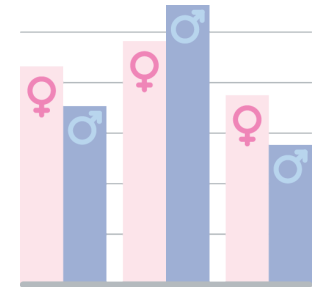

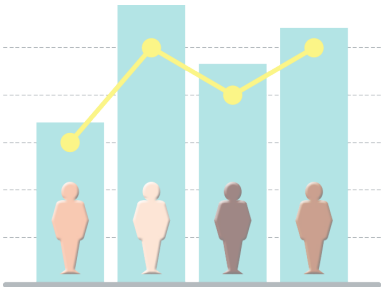

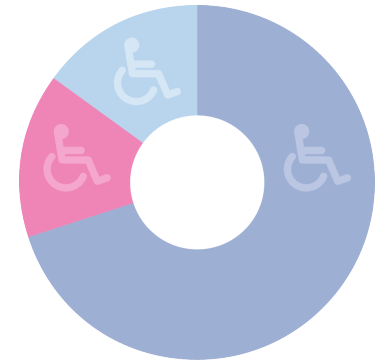

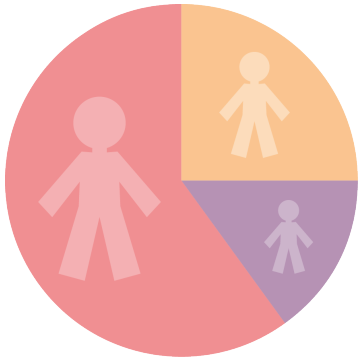

Objective One

Educate our staff about unconscious bias

Objective Two

Look at race equality for staff when judging whether services are well-led

Objective Three

Improve what we know and do about safety and quality in health services for people with a learning disability, dementia or mental ill-health

Objective Four

Help our inspectors to make judgements
about equality

Objective Five

Work to have the same outcomes for staff or recruits for people of all protected equality characteristics
