Summary of this inspection

Why we carried out this inspection

---

We carried out this inspection to check whether Connections (West Yorkshire) Health and Social Care CIC had taken action to meet the following essential standards:

- Requirements relating to workers

This was an unannounced inspection.

How we carried out this inspection

---

We looked at the personal care or treatment records of people who use the service and carried out a visit on 16 January 2015.

---

What people told us and what we found

---

When we visited the service in November 2013 we found the provider was not meeting the regulation regarding requirements relating to workers. We asked the provider to make improvements.

We carried out this follow up inspection to check whether improvements had been made.

We spoke with the provider and the registered manager who told us they had carried out the required improvements since our last inspection. We also spoke with a member of staff who told us they carried out audits within the service. The staff member told us they had updated all of the staff personnel records since our last inspection to ensure they held the required information to show how the recruitment process had been followed. Records we looked at confirmed this. We also saw evidence which showed records were being regularly audited.

You can see our judgements on the front page of this report.

More information about the provider

---

Please see our website www.cqc.org.uk for more information, including our most recent judgements against the essential standards. You can contact us using the telephone number on the back of the report if you have additional questions.

There is a glossary at the back of this report which has definitions for words and phrases we use in the report.

Our judgements for each standard inspected

Requirements relating to workers

✓ Met this standard

People should be cared for by staff who are properly qualified and able to do their job

Our judgement

The provider was meeting this standard.

People were cared for, or supported by, suitably qualified, skilled and experienced staff.

Reasons for our judgement

When we visited the service in November 2013 we looked at three staff personnel records and saw they did not contain evidence to show that effective recruitment processes had been followed. We asked the provider to make improvements.

We carried out this follow up inspection to check whether improvements had been made.

We looked at the personnel records of four staff and found they all contained documents regarding their recruitment. We saw that application forms, reference requests and references were held within each of the files. This showed appropriate recruitment and selection processes had been followed.

We saw that each record held an up to date Disclosure and Barring service certificate for the individual concerned. The DSB helps employers make safe recruitment decisions and prevents unsuitable people from working with vulnerable groups. This meant staff were being properly checked to make sure they were suitable and safe to work with vulnerable adults.

We also saw the records contained documentation which showed each staff member had completed an induction on commencement of employment. This demonstrated that the provider ensured new employees had the appropriate knowledge and skills to perform their job roles.

We found there was a checklist in place within each of the records which contained the dates of when updates to documents within each staff file needed to be carried out. For example, DBS renewal, ID badge renewal, annual appraisal and next supervision session with their line manager. This showed the provider had a system in place to make sure renewals and updates were carried out in a timely manner.

About CQC inspections

We are the regulator of health and social care in England.

All providers of regulated health and social care services have a legal responsibility to make sure they are meeting essential standards of quality and safety. These are the standards everyone should be able to expect when they receive care.

The essential standards are described in the Health and Social Care Act 2008 (Regulated Activities) Regulations 2010 and the Care Quality Commission (Registration) Regulations 2009. We regulate against these standards, which we sometimes describe as "government standards".

We carry out unannounced inspections of all care homes, acute hospitals and domiciliary care services in England at least once a year to judge whether or not the essential standards are being met. We carry out inspections of other services less often. All of our inspections are unannounced unless there is a good reason to let the provider know we are coming.

There are 16 essential standards that relate most directly to the quality and safety of care and these are grouped into five key areas. When we inspect we could check all or part of any of the 16 standards at any time depending on the individual circumstances of the service. Because of this we often check different standards at different times.

When we inspect, we always visit and we do things like observe how people are cared for, and we talk to people who use the service, to their carers and to staff. We also review information we have gathered about the provider, check the service's records and check whether the right systems and processes are in place.

We focus on whether or not the provider is meeting the standards and we are guided by whether people are experiencing the outcomes they should be able to expect when the standards are being met. By outcomes we mean the impact care has on the health, safety and welfare of people who use the service, and the experience they have whilst receiving it.

Our inspectors judge if any action is required by the provider of the service to improve the standard of care being provided. Where providers are non-compliant with the regulations, we take enforcement action against them. If we require a service to take action, or if we take enforcement action, we re-inspect it before its next routine inspection was due. This could mean we re-inspect a service several times in one year. We also might decide to re-inspect a service if new concerns emerge about it before the next routine inspection.

In between inspections we continually monitor information we have about providers. The information comes from the public, the provider, other organisations, and from care workers.

You can tell us about your experience of this provider on our website.

How we define our judgements

The following pages show our findings and regulatory judgement for each essential standard or part of the standard that we inspected. Our judgements are based on the ongoing review and analysis of the information gathered by CQC about this provider and the evidence collected during this inspection.

We reach one of the following judgements for each essential standard inspected.

 Met this standard This means that the standard was being met in that the provider was compliant with the regulation. If we find that standards were met, we take no regulatory action but we may make comments that may be useful to the provider and to the public about minor improvements that could be made.

 Action needed This means that the standard was not being met in that the provider was non-compliant with the regulation. We may have set a compliance action requiring the provider to produce a report setting out how and by when changes will be made to make sure they comply with the standard. We monitor the implementation of action plans in these reports and, if necessary, take further action. We may have identified a breach of a regulation which is more serious, and we will make sure action is taken. We will report on this when it is complete.

 Enforcement action taken If the breach of the regulation was more serious, or there have been several or continual breaches, we have a range of actions we take using the criminal and/or civil procedures in the Health and Social Care Act 2008 and relevant regulations. These enforcement powers include issuing a warning notice; restricting or suspending the services a provider can offer, or the number of people it can care for; issuing fines and formal cautions; in extreme cases, cancelling a provider or managers registration or prosecuting a manager or provider. These enforcement powers are set out in law and mean that we can take swift, targeted action where services are failing people.

How we define our judgements (continued)

Where we find non-compliance with a regulation (or part of a regulation), we state which part of the regulation has been breached. Only where there is non compliance with one or more of Regulations 9-24 of the Regulated Activity Regulations, will our report include a judgement about the level of impact on people who use the service (and others, if appropriate to the regulation). This could be a minor, moderate or major impact.

Minor impact - people who use the service experienced poor care that had an impact on their health, safety or welfare or there was a risk of this happening. The impact was not significant and the matter could be managed or resolved quickly.

---

Moderate impact - people who use the service experienced poor care that had a significant effect on their health, safety or welfare or there was a risk of this happening. The matter may need to be resolved quickly.

---

Major impact - people who use the service experienced poor care that had a serious current or long term impact on their health, safety and welfare, or there was a risk of this happening. The matter needs to be resolved quickly

---

We decide the most appropriate action to take to ensure that the necessary changes are made. We always follow up to check whether action has been taken to meet the standards.
