Foreword

Change in the adult social care market has been a common feature for more than twenty years, since the Community Care Act reforms in 1991 shifted the provision of social care from the public sector to a mixed market. When those changes mean providers exit the market and close services, managing those exits well is really important as disruption to care services can cause severe distress and pose real risks to people's health and wellbeing. It can also cause a lot of stress and anxiety for families and carers of people who use services.

In most cases Local Authorities manage failure well at a local level, working with local providers and arranging alternative provision to make sure people continue to have their needs met. The Care Act 2014 formalises this by placing a new duty on Local Authorities for ensuring temporary continuity of care in these cases. However, some providers are so dominant in the market (in size, regional presence or specialism) that it would prove difficult for individual Local Authorities to manage the consequence of any failure. The financial problems which Southern Cross faced in 2011 demonstrate this very clearly. There was a lot of understandable anxiety for people who use services and their families and carers about what might happen next but, in the end, all homes were sold to new owners and no one needed to move home at that point. In most cases of business failure, services will be sold or taken over rather than closed so people who use services do not need to worry about their care stopping.

To better plan for the event of provider failure, CQC will operate the Market Oversight Scheme. This Scheme gives us the formal powers to regularly assess the business health of 'difficult to replace' providers. The core purpose of the new Scheme is to give Local Authorities early warning of likely failure so they can plan and prepare for possible changes. This gives Local Authorities the best chance of protecting people who use services who may be placed in a vulnerable position by potential closures.

The Scheme is intended to spot potential failure so the right people can take the right action to either avoid failure or to manage the consequences of failure and exit. CQC will not be bailing any providers out or acting as a lender of last resort to support failing providers. Nor should the operation of the Scheme in anyway pre-empt or precipitate failure.

CQC has been given the new responsibility as there is clear link between financial performance and quality of care. Poor quality of care can lead to a deteriorating financial position and financial troubles can lead to poor quality if, for example, providers cut back on their investment in training or in the physical environment within care homes. We will build upon our existing expertise about the quality of care services in delivering this new function.

We anticipate there will be around 40 corporate providers in the Scheme. Any providers who will be part of the Scheme are included because they are difficult to replace, not because we have assessed they have a risk of failure. Although only a small proportion of the social care sector will be part of the Market Oversight Scheme, we will obviously still be carrying out our role to regulate, monitor and inspect all regulated care services and to encourage them to improve, taking action when quality is not good enough.

We have developed the Market Oversight Scheme in ongoing collaboration and consultation with key stakeholders in adult social care, as well as those from other relevant areas, such as the finance sector and regulators responsible for financial oversight regimes. We also published draft guidance and invited feedback. I am very grateful for the contributions and help we have received from these key partners in developing our approach. Alongside the final provider guidance we have also published a summary of the feedback we received and our response to it.

As we implement the new function, we will continue to listen to our key partners, so we can be sure that the Scheme is delivering its purpose in the most effective way possible.

Andrea Sutcliffe

Chief Inspector of Adult Social Care

1. Introduction to Market Oversight

This guidance sets out information about the Market Oversight Scheme ('Scheme') and our approach to operating it.

The guidance is primarily intended for providers of adult social care that will be in the Scheme and will enable them to understand:

- What the Market Oversight Scheme requires of them.
- How their financial sustainability will be assessed and how often we will meet with them.
- How the Scheme might work through all the stages of the operating model.

For other stakeholders (such as Local Authorities, lenders, administrators and providers not in the Scheme), we will publish a short guide to the Market Oversight Scheme. This technical guidance will enable these stakeholders to understand:

- How we intend to monitor 'difficult to replace' providers.
- What the Scheme will and will not do.
- Where we may engage with stakeholders and seek their involvement, and what they need to do.

For people who use services and the public, we will publish further information about the purpose and operation of the Scheme which enables them to understand:

- How Market Oversight fits with the duties of Local Authorities to help ensure people's needs continue to be met should a provider in the Scheme fail financially.

What is Market Oversight?

Market Oversight is a statutory scheme, as set out in the Care Act 2014, through which CQC will assess the financial sustainability of those care organisations that Local Authorities would find difficult to replace should they fail and become unable to carry on delivering a service. We are required to inform Local Authorities where these services are delivered as soon as we believe that this failure is likely to happen. By giving an early warning of likely failure, the Scheme will assist Local Authorities in carrying out their statutory duty to ensure continuity of care when providers fail. They must do this for everyone in their area whose care needs were previously being met by that failed provider.

Inclusion of a provider in the Scheme is not an indication of risk; merely that the provider would be difficult for Local Authorities to replace, should they fail.

The Scheme applies only to England, which is the area of CQC's regulatory remit. It comes into effect on 6 April 2015.

What is Market Oversight for?

It is to protect people using care services and their families and carers from the anxiety and distress that may be caused by the failure of a major care provider and to minimise any disruption to their care. We do this by monitoring the performance and finances of the most significant social care providers in England and will give Local Authorities an early warning where we think one of these is at risk of failure and the delivery of services is going to be affected.

The Scheme will identify where failure is likely, allowing the right people (providers, shareholders, lenders and other stakeholders) to take the right action to potentially avoid failure and to support Local Authorities to plan in case failure does happen. Through its operation, the Scheme aims not to pre-empt or precipitate provider failure and market exit. The Government will not bailout failing providers or act as a lender of last resort.

Why and how was the Scheme developed?

In 2011, the largest adult social care provider in the UK, Southern Cross, experienced severe financial difficulties, leaving thousands of people at risk of losing their care service. Local Authorities in affected areas worked quickly to draw up contingency plans. It was not necessary to put these into practice as the care sector worked together to help avoid large scale failure. However, the time it took to restructure such a complex business, and the uncertainty of the outcome, caused significant anxiety and distress to the people using Southern Cross's services, as well as their families and carers.

This prompted the Government to explore what could be done if another large or highly specialised care business failed and, specifically, how to prevent the people using its services being adversely affected. The Government issued a discussion paper (Market Oversight in Social Care) in October 2011 that asked whether additional measures were needed to oversee the social care market and protect continuity of care for people needing vital services.

A consultation followed in December 2012, in which the Government asked:

- How can Local Authority responsibilities be strengthened and clarified in relation to people using care services that failed?
- Is a targeted model of central oversight necessary?
- If so, what elements should it contain?

The vast majority of responses were in favour of an oversight scheme that targeted difficult to replace providers, was light touch, intelligent and people-focused. The types of care providers mentioned in this context were specifically large organisations, providers with a strong regional or local presence and those delivering specialist services.

The Government decided CQC was the organisation best placed to deal with this work because we already have responsibilities to oversee quality and safety of care across all of England's adult social care provision. There is a clear relationship between quality and finances in care services; for example, where quality drops, this can indicate under-investment due to wider financial problems.

We designed the Market Oversight Scheme in co-production with a wide range of stakeholders, including people who use services, service providers, commissioners, financial experts and sector representative organisations. We met with these stakeholders regularly and also held a number of events to gain people's views on:

- How the Scheme will work.
- Issues that could lead to provider failure.
- The types of financial, operational and quality information we will need to review.

We sought feedback on draft provider guidance in January and February 2015 and a summary of the comments received and our response is available on our website at www.cqc.org.uk/ascmarketoversight.

How does Market Oversight link with Local Authority duties?

The Care Act 2014 requires that, if providers become unable to continue to deliver care to people because of business failure, Local Authorities must 'step in' and make arrangements for anyone affected so that their needs carry on being met. This includes all people using social care services, not just those whose care the Local Authority is paying for.

Any uncertainty over whether a care provider is going to be able to carry on looking after people is extremely distressing for those people as well, as for their families and carers. Some of the people who use the care service may be frail and this distress could have serious implications for their health and wellbeing.

Local Authorities routinely manage closures of smaller-scale services successfully. However, they might struggle with the failure of one of these difficult to replace providers for several reasons: there may be no alternative provision in the area that can support the sheer number of people affected; or the provider might have been providing services to people across a number of different authority areas. Coordinating an effective response in such circumstances would need careful planning to ensure the welfare of the people who use those services is not put at risk. The Market Oversight Scheme is designed to give Local Authorities earlier warning of potential failure so they can prepare to implement contingency plans, should their legal duty to step in become necessary.

Market Oversight statutory framework

This section briefly sets out the statutory framework that underpins the Scheme and that explains our duties, functions and powers to help operate it. This includes a summary of the Regulations that support the Scheme and its operation. More detail about the Regulations and how and when we will use them are in the description of the Operating Model on page 10. The full text of the Regulations is at Appendix B.

Sections 53 to 57 of the Care Act 2014 ('Care Act') establish CQC's Market Oversight duties and functions. Under these, CQC is required to:

- Determine whether entry criteria apply to a provider and inform them where they do, therefore creating a set of providers who are in the Scheme.
- Assess the financial sustainability of the providers in the Scheme.
- Inform Local Authorities where business failure is likely to mean a provider may become unable to carry on the regulated activity for which it is registered.
- Act proportionately and minimise burdens we impose on others.

A number of different Regulations set out in more detail the practical aspects of these duties and functions:

The Care and Support (Market Oversight Criteria) Regulations 2015 set out the criteria for entry to the Scheme. The criteria are designed to be met by those care providers that, because of their size or concentration, Local Authorities would find difficult to replace were they to fail. The criteria relate only to how difficult a provider would be to replace and bear no relation to any judgement of actual or potential risk of failure.

Where providers form part of a wider corporate group that meets the definition of a 'group undertaking' set out in section 1161(5) of the Companies Act 2006, the size of the whole group will be taken into account when we assess whether entry criteria are met. We refer to this as the 'Consolidated Group'. However, it is the financial sustainability of individual registered providers that we must determine, not the financial sustainability of the wider corporate group. We appreciate, however, that matters elsewhere within a wider corporate group may impact on individual registered providers, and this is something which we will take into account.

Where a provider is subject to the Market Oversight Scheme, The Care and Support (Market Oversight Information) Regulations 2014 set out arrangements to enable us to obtain information from other legal entities that have common ownership with the registered provider and are relevant to assessing the financial sustainability of a registered provider.

The Care and Support (Business Failure) Regulations 2015 define the meaning of ‘business failure’, in relation to the temporary duties on Local Authorities in England under the Care Act to meet the care and support needs of adults or support needs of carers, in circumstances where care providers are unable to carry on because of ‘business failure’. They define the specific situations which we will need to consider as being likely to occur (in conjunction with considering other circumstances), in coming to our decision to make a notification to Local Authorities. For more details on the triggers for notification, see page 27.

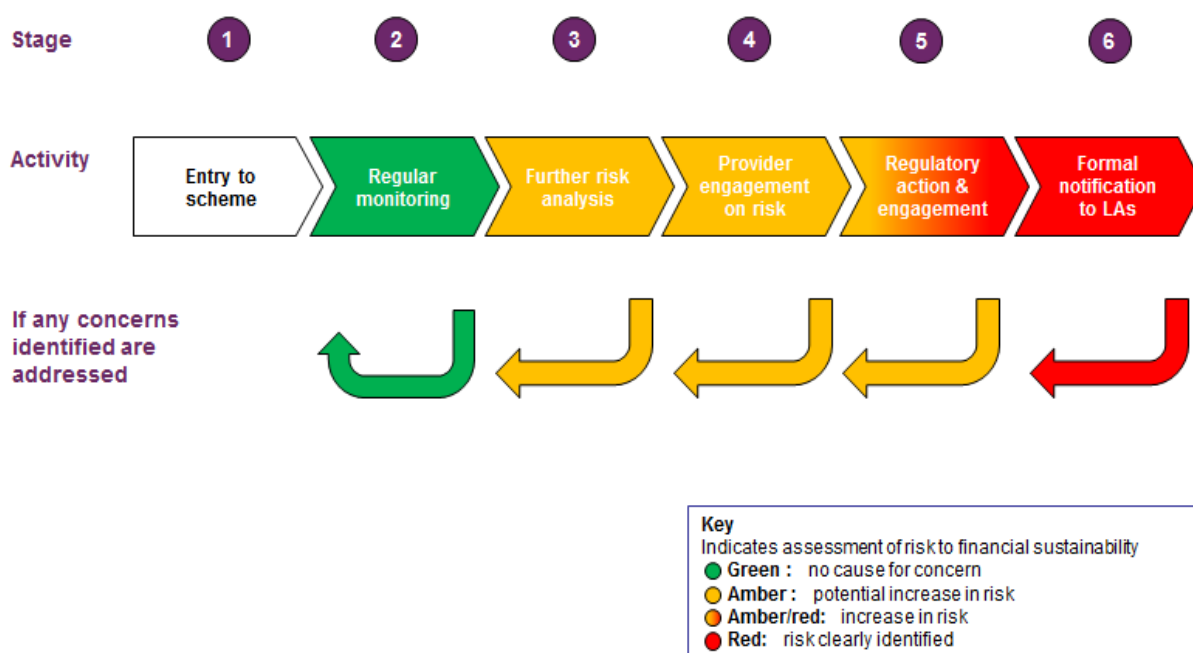

Market Oversight operating model overview

This section sets out a high-level overview of the operating model and the team who will put it into practice. This is followed on page 15 by a stage-by-stage detailed ‘walk through’ of the model.

We adopt a 6-stage approach to the assessment of financial sustainability, as set out in Figure 1 below. Providers progress through the stages on the basis of our assessment of their financial sustainability. This allows us to come to a decision about the likelihood of business failure and of this leading to services closing or regulated activities ceasing.

Where providers are part of a wider group that meets the definition of a ‘group undertaking’, as set out on page 9, we will engage with senior representatives of that group and focus our requests for information (in the context of its finances, operations and business) at the Consolidated Group level. This should enable us to assess the sustainability of registered providers in the Scheme in the most effective and least burdensome way.

This diagram illustrates how our activities and engagement with providers will change if concerns about financial sustainability increase. This is a useful illustration, but the assessment process is not a 'one size fits all' approach. Each provider and each individual scenario require different approaches at each stage. The length of time providers spend at each stage will also vary. It is best to think of this as an 'evolving conversation', which grows more complex and focused as the process moves up the stages. We also recognise that providers may pass through stages quickly and that some stages may be missed out in a fast moving situation.

We will not publish the stage in the operating model that providers are at currently, or the stages they may have been at previously. The Market Oversight Scheme is not acting as a credit rating agency; our legal duty is to inform Local Authorities only when a potential business failure is likely to cause a regulated activity to cease. Providing an external commentary on potential risk could precipitate failure which would put people who use services in a vulnerable position. This is the very situation which the Scheme is intended to avoid. Each specific provider will have particular risks and merely confirming the stage in the model is crude and open to misinterpretation if all facts are not known.

Stage 1 is entry to the Scheme. The provider has satisfied at least one of the entry criteria or has been included in the Scheme following a decision made by the Secretary of State for Health to do so using powers in the Care Act. Further details are at page 15.

Stages 2 and 3 involve us seeking regular financial and quality information from providers and routine engagement (Stage 2) and to investigate further, where this indicates areas of concern (Stage 3). A provider at Stage 3 will be subject to more desktop risk analysis on the information already provided.

Further details are at page 19.

Stage 4 involves us seeking additional information to understand and assess any financial sustainability concerns identified at earlier stages. A provider at Stage 4 will be asked to attend a Risk Assessment Meeting with us so that we can get a better understanding of the issues we have found and the reasons for them. Providers may be required to give us additional financial information over and above that required at earlier stages to help inform further, more detailed, risk analysis and to support any representations made at the meeting. Further details are at page 23.

Stage 5 represents a more significant escalation of risk, where we have increased concerns about the provider's financial sustainability. We will look to use a broader range of tools than at earlier stages to seek more information about a provider's plans to address any concerns identified and to monitor any restructuring discussions with stakeholders. This may include requesting a Risk Mitigation Plan from the provider or appointing advisers to perform a focused Independent Business Review. Engagement with the provider will be driven by necessity and will be more frequent at this stage compared to previous stages. Further details are at page 24.

Stage 6 indicates the highest level of risk. If a provider reaches this stage it means that we consider it is likely to become unable to continue delivering a service because of likely business failure. We will notify Local Authorities which will be affected so they can prepare to implement contingency plans to protect people's continuity of care, if the need arises. It is important to note that even where business failure has been identified as likely to happen and regulated activities are likely to cease, this may not actually occur. Further details are at page 27.

Throughout the model, providers can move backwards and forwards across the stages to reflect decreasing as well as increasing risks. The model works both ways.

The team

Prior to the introduction of Market Oversight, our Corporate Provider Team regularly engaged with the largest providers of health and social care on matters of quality. This arrangement will continue to exist. The team collates information from inspections and other information we hold about services. These reports on the quality of the overall organisation formed the basis of our discussions with the provider about:

- Any areas of best practice.
- Any concerns we might have identified and what the provider is doing to address these.
- Feedback to us about our approach.

In implementing the requirement on us to assess the financial sustainability of providers, we are building on this existing knowledge, expertise and relationships, both internally and externally.

The Market Oversight Scheme will be operated by a new in-house team working alongside the Corporate Provider Team. A new post, the Director of Market Oversight and Corporate Providers, will be responsible for leading both teams. The combination ensures we have a number of experts with significant experience of financial issues, including insolvency and financial risk, experts in understanding quality issues in corporate providers, and experts in Intelligent Monitoring and analysing information.

All providers in the Market Oversight Scheme will be allocated a named strategic, financial and operational lead:

- The strategic lead will be a senior person from CQC; usually a Deputy Chief Inspector or Head of Inspection and they will be responsible for engaging with providers at a strategic level.

- The financial lead will be an experienced finance professional from the Market Oversight Team. They will be responsible for maintaining oversight of the provider's financial profile and working with analysts and the Corporate Provider Team.
- The operational lead will be from the Corporate Provider Team and they will be responsible for maintaining oversight of the provider's quality profile, maintaining ongoing relationships with the provider and working closely with the wider Market Oversight team.

Providers of significant scale that do not meet the entry criteria for Market Oversight will also be assigned an operational and strategic lead for our ongoing engagement with them on issues of quality performance.

How we will handle commercially sensitive information

Information submitted by providers for the purposes of Market Oversight will be stored under strict access control and only available to staff on a 'need to know' basis.

When we receive requests for information under the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA), in Parliamentary Questions or in letters to Ministers we will consider whether we are able to release the information by referring to the FOIA exemptions¹. We will always consult with a provider where we receive such requests.

Any decision to refuse to release information under FOIA may be challenged by the requester making a complaint to the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO), and subsequently to the Information Tribunal and courts. This means that any refusal to disclose by us could potentially be overturned.

CQC has a duty to have regard to respecting the confidentiality of the information submitted by providers. However, as with all such duties there may be countervailing factors (such as the main objective of CQC laid out in Section 3(1) of the Health and Social Care Act 2008: "to protect and promote the health, safety and welfare of people who use ... services") that should be taken into account when making the decision whether to disclose the information that the provider considers ought to be kept confidential.

If there is any conflict between the desire to maintain the confidentiality of provider information and achieving our statutory purposes, then the statutory purposes of CQC are highly likely to outweigh treating provider information as confidential. This decision will not be one that is taken lightly as CQC is mindful of the damage that could be done to providers arising from any disclosure that a provider is in financial difficulties and thus may not be able to continue with its business. There will always be a clear audit trail of the decision made and CQC's thought process behind any such step that is taken in this regard. This is not intended to be a blanket power for CQC to disclose commercially confidential information to any party it chooses. The decision will always be based on the specific facts of each case.

In terms of retaining information we receive, in line with our retention policy, we will hold the information we have gathered from providers and stakeholders in support of our Market Oversight duties for 7 years following the exit of a provider from the Scheme. After 7 years, we will securely destroy this information and inform the provider that this has taken place. However, we will retain the record of our judgements and actions as part of the assessment of the provider.

Evaluation of Market Oversight

We are committed to ensuring the way we regulate care services is robust and effective and that we continually improve.

Market Oversight is not just a new function for us; financial oversight of private, 'for profit' providers of adult social care has not routinely been carried out by a public body (though the Charity Commission has regulated the finances of 'not for profit' providers owned by charities). To make sure the system is fit for purpose and delivers value for money, we will undertake a formal appraisal of Market Oversight through our Evaluation programme.

In addition to continual assessment of our methods and ongoing engagement with stakeholders such as providers, Local Authorities and people using services, we will carry out a formal survey once the Scheme is underway to understand what has gone well and what needs to be improved.

2. How we deliver the Market Oversight Scheme

This section sets out a stage-by-stage guide to how the model will work in detail. It will explain:

- What each stage is for
- What is expected from providers and other stakeholders
- What we will do, when and how
- What happens next.

Stage 1 – Entry to the Scheme

What is this stage for?

This stage is to identify and notify providers that will enter the Scheme. There is no suggestion at this stage that providers are at any risk of financial failure, only that they meet the thresholds set out in law which suggest they would be difficult to replace.

What will we do?

There are two routes for a provider to enter the Scheme.

- (i) By satisfying the criteria set out in Regulations:
The provider must be sufficiently large at a national level or have a significant local or regional presence in a number of Local Authority areas. Their size means that their failure to keep on providing services would challenge the continuity of care in those areas.
- (ii) Being brought into the Scheme by the Secretary of State for Health:
This may happen following a recommendation from a panel of individuals, selected because of their expertise in specialist services, who judge that the services the provider supplies are so specialist that, should the provider fail, Local Authorities would find it difficult to find temporary alternative provision for people using those services. The Department of Health is responsible for setting up this panel and for its operation. For more information on the panel, see page 17.

The Care Act gives the Secretary of State the power to include providers in the Scheme despite them not meeting the entry criteria. This is because the governing legislation is not able to describe every possible situation where a provider may be difficult to replace should it fail. In CQC, we will consider recommending to the Secretary of State that a provider should be included, even though it does not meet the entry criteria laid down in legislation, where we believe its failure would have a significant impact on people because Local Authorities would struggle to find a replacement for the service. Whether a provider is brought into the Scheme in this way will be decided by the Secretary of State.

Appendix C sets out the Secretary of State's powers to 'passport' providers in to the regime, examples of where these powers may be used and the process that will be followed.

We will assess providers against the criteria set out in Regulations (see Appendix B) to determine whether they should enter the Scheme or not.²

Regulations define the conditions a provider must satisfy in order to be included in the Scheme, as follows:

For a residential care provider, they must have a bed capacity:

- (a) of at least 2,000 anywhere in England (i.e. significant size of provider); or
- (b) between a total of 1,000 and less than 2,000 with at least 1 bed in 16 or more Local Authority areas (i.e. significant scale regionally or nationally); or
- (c) between a total of 1,000 and less than 2,000 and where capacity in at least 3 Local Authority areas is more than 10 per cent of the total capacity in each of these areas (i.e. significant concentration in a local or geographic area).

For a non-residential care provider, they must:

- (a) provide at least 30,000 hours of care in a week anywhere in England; or
- (b) provide at least 2,000 people with care in a week anywhere in England; or
- (c) provide at least 800 people with care in a week anywhere in England and the number of hours of care divided by the number of people cared for must be more than 30. For example, if 900 people receive care in a week then more than 27,000 hours of care must be provided in that week for the criteria to be satisfied.

We will publish the names of the corporate groups and registered providers that are subject to Market Oversight and, from this, people will be able to find the individual locations where care is delivered.

Providers that enter the Scheme must remain in it for a minimum of 12 months unless removed through a decision from the Secretary of State for Health.

Providers remain in the Scheme for this time in order to avoid those that are close to the boundaries of the entry criteria continually coming in and out of the Scheme. This period also gives us the opportunity to come to a reasoned assessment of the provider. It is not in the interests of people using services for a provider that dips slightly below the entry threshold to exit the Scheme before we have assessed its financial sustainability.

However, we will take a proportionate approach to assessment. For instance, if a provider significantly reduces in scale, by selling part of their business, and would not necessarily still be difficult to replace, the depth and frequency of our monitoring activity will reflect this until they leave the Scheme.

Where providers meet the criteria, we will notify them of their entry to the Scheme by letter. We will give providers the opportunity to request a review of the decision to include them in the Scheme (see below), where the basis for their inclusion is that they meet the entry criteria as laid out in Regulations.

Specialist panel

Many providers delivering specialist services are likely to be subject to the Market Oversight Scheme because they form part of a larger organisation that satisfies the entry criteria for the Scheme. However, there may be a very small number of providers delivering specialist services that do not meet the entry criteria, but who, should they fail, would be challenging for the affected Local Authorities to replace without an early warning of likely failure.

As it is not possible to easily define such specialist services, specific entry criteria for the Market Oversight Scheme have not been devised for 'specialist' services.

Instead, the Department of Health will set up a panel of experts, with significant knowledge of the specialist care sector, who will make a recommendation to the Secretary of State for Health about any specialist provider they feel should be included in the Scheme. The Secretary of State will consider the recommendation and any other evidence in deciding whether to use powers in the Care Act to bring that provider into the Scheme.

Any providers brought into the Scheme through a recommendation to the Secretary of State will need to be specifically named in Regulations. Appendix C contains further details, including:

- How providers can request that the panel review their decision to recommend to the Secretary of State that they are brought into the Scheme.
- How they will be notified that they are subject to it.
- The process by which they will leave.

Review of decision to be entered in the Scheme

Providers that have been brought into the Scheme because we believe they meet the entry criteria may ask for the decision to include them to be reviewed. They have 28 days from the date of the letter notifying them of their inclusion in the Scheme to seek a review. The grounds for reviewing decisions are likely to be on the basis of factual accuracy (for example, because our records show an inaccurate number of care home beds, or we misunderstand the provider's organisational structure).

While we are considering this request, providers will still be subject to assessment under the Market Oversight Scheme and so must continue to comply with requests for information in a reasonable time. Decisions on reviews will be made within 28 days of the request for review being made (with full supporting information) and we will notify the provider of the outcome. This decision will be final.

Appendix C sets out how providers can raise objections following a recommendation being made to the Secretary of State for Health that they be brought into the Scheme.

Leaving the Scheme

After a year has passed, if residential or non-residential care providers no longer meet the entry criteria, they will be formally notified that they have exited the Market Oversight Scheme.

Stages 2 and 3 – Regular monitoring and further analysis

What are these stages for?

To carry out routine monitoring of providers' finances and quality (Stage 2) and to investigate further, where this indicates areas of concern (Stage 3).

What we expect from providers

We expect providers to give us the information we require in the necessary format and to appropriate timescales to enable us to monitor their risks. The information we will be asking for includes:

- Business context information: on entry to the Scheme, we will ask providers to supply us with their organisational structure. This is so that we can understand where the registered provider(s) sits in their legal structure, and confirm the legal entities which make up the Consolidated Group. Providers should give us this information before their first Financial Submission Template (see page 19). The Financial Submission Template will collect information in relation to financing structures and property ownership. Where either we or the provider has particular questions in relation to the business context information, we will arrange a meeting. For example, this could be to obtain information on business strategy or because the provider thinks additional information is required for us to understand their business. Business context information will mainly be updated via the Financial Submission Template and the annual financial review meeting after this. However, providers must inform us if there are material changes throughout the year.
- Financial information: on entry to the Scheme, providers will be required to submit information on the quarterly financial performance for the previous 12 months. On entry, and annually afterwards, providers will also need to submit the annual budget for the current year, split into quarters. This information will improve our understanding of the provider's business and will act as a benchmark for future financial analysis. Following entry to the Scheme, providers will be required to submit information covering performance over the previous quarter on an ongoing basis. Providers will have 45 days, following the end of their financial quarter, in which to return this information to us. The information will be gathered using a standard Financial Submission Template; you can see an example of this on our website.

The Financial Submission Template

The Financial Submission Template is largely based on unaudited management information to:

- Enable the calculation of standard risk indicators directly from information the provider submits.

- Identify the reasons for underperformance without the need for substantial additional information requests.
- Assist with the correlation of quality data and financial performance.

Providers will, as a result, have to provide a reconciliation between the Statutory Accounts and the information submitted on an annual basis so we can check the accuracy of the financial submissions.

The Financial Submission Template is mainly based on Consolidated Group financial information (as per the 'group undertaking' definition of Section 1161(5) of the Companies Act 2006), as it will be at this level where most business failure risks will be assessed. However, there are two areas where more detailed financial information will be required:

- Profit and loss by activity: Where relevant, the profitability of the group is split between residential care and non-residential care activities in England, activities regulated by the Homes and Communities Agency and other activities (for example, healthcare and care activities in Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland). This will enable us to identify the areas of the business that may already be subject to financial oversight from other regulators in order to avoid duplication of effort and to ensure there is a coordinated response if any concerns are identified. The performance of residential and non-residential services in England is also presented separately as these activities have different financial risk indicators to aid the comparison of financial and quality indicators.
- Profitability (EBITDA) by registered provider: Our Market Oversight duty needs to be undertaken at registered provider level; some corporate providers may have several legal entities which are registered providers. As a result, while the focus of our analysis is on group financial performance, we will also need to understand profitability at registered provider level so that any loss-making providers within the group can be identified. We are not asking for more detailed information on each registered provider at this stage to reduce the administrative burden; however, additional information may be required if issues are identified.

What will we do?

We will use the information contained in the Financial Submission Templates, alongside information drawn from our inspections and registration data, to calculate a standard set of risk indicators. We will review the indicators as a whole, initially, to assess financial sustainability and identify business failure risks that need to be followed up with further analysis or a meeting with the provider.

In line with our policy on our wider Intelligent Monitoring system, we will not publish the thresholds used by our indicators. The financial indicators are only a small part of the overall assessment process and are open to misinterpretation if viewed in isolation. They are too much of a 'blunt instrument' to be adopted for provider monitoring by other agencies or for other purposes, outside of the specific context of our operating model (for example, in Local Authority market shaping activities) and without the specific skills required. They can only ever be used as prompts for further analysis and engagement with providers and will not be used to calculate a specific credit or risk rating.

The standard risk indicators that will be used are set out in detail in Appendix D and are split into the following key categories:

- Quality indicators: the results of inspections and other information we hold about providers will be aggregated to identify operational issues that could have an impact on financial performance. The quality indicators will also be used to understand if the current financial position of the provider is having an impact on the quality of its service provision.
- Trading indicators: trends in relation to sales, profitability levels and cash generation will be monitored against budget and the prior year. We will use these indicators to understand the relationship between a provider's fixed and variable costs and the revenue they generate and to identify if trading performance is improving or deteriorating. Our interpretation of the trading indicators will take into account the activities performed by the provider (i.e. non-residential versus residential care) and any relevant business context information (such as the impact of new home developments). A deteriorating trading performance may lead to future financial problems and is likely to result in further analysis being performed (Stage 3).
- Debt indicators: the level of debt in the provider, including long term operating lease commitments, will be assessed against standard bank lending criteria. We will use these indicators to understand if the provider has too much debt, and the impact this has on its ability to absorb any potential future trading risks. A high level of debt combined with a deteriorating trading performance will lead to further analysis being performed (Stage 3), and potentially a Risk Assessment Meeting with the provider (Stage 4).
- Debt payment indicators: the ability of the provider to meet its debt and lease obligations will be assessed. We will use these indicators to understand if the provider can afford to pay its debts as they fall due. Limited difference between debt payments and cash generation will lead to a Risk Assessment Meeting with the provider (Stage 4).
- Qualitative risk questions: these questions will be used to identify the existence of elevated business failure risk factors, which may not be identified by looking at financial information in isolation. These questions, along with the debt payment indicators above, will be the key indicators of business failure. A Risk Assessment Meeting with the provider (Stage 4) will be held if the existence of elevated risk factors is confirmed.

A provider can normally expect to have, as a minimum, four key engagements with CQC over the course of a year:

- An annual financial review meeting
- Three meetings on quality performance

The frequency of these meetings may increase due to either the size of the provider, the current performance or potential risk.

As indicated above, where the standard risk indicators show potential areas of concern, we will carry out further analysis of the information we hold to better understand the impact on business failure risk (Stage 3), and to decide whether a Risk Assessment Meeting with the provider is required. This will include looking in more detail at historical trading trends, reading inspection reports, performing stress testing on key indicators (such as debt and debt payment) to understand the future impact of trading trends and market risks, and reviewing publicly available information (such as press announcements).

What happens next?

There are two potential outcomes for providers from these steps:

- i. Where no elevated risk concerns are identified from the standard risk indicators and any further risk analysis we have performed, providers remain in a cycle of regular monitoring. This will include submitting the required financial information, business context information and qualitative risk information on a quarterly and annual basis. The provider will remain in the regular cycle of four meetings a year with us so we can consider the financial and quality performance as described above.
- ii. Where the standard risk indicators and further risk analysis we have performed identify elevated business failure risks, or prove inconclusive because we do not understand a particular aspect of a provider's business, a Risk Assessment Meeting will be held with the provider. Regular monitoring will continue alongside the increased engagement with the provider.

Stage 4 – Engaging with the provider on risk

What is this stage for?

To meet with the provider to discuss any concerns identified in Stages 2 and 3.

What will we do?

Where the review of evidence at Stage 3 either proves inconclusive or identifies potential financial sustainability risks, which mean we are not able to gain assurance as to the sustainability of the provider, we will arrange a Risk Assessment Meeting with them. This will give the provider an opportunity to explain any concerns we have identified in our analysis of the financial submissions and quality data. This may be a relatively simple meeting to explain a change in financial performance or capital structure or to explain what is being done to address issues affecting the quality of services. We will seek to understand whether issues are localised or affecting the whole organisation and also what steps the provider is taking to tackle these issues.

What happens next?

There are three potential outcomes for providers from this stage:

- (i) The provider will return to regular monitoring (Stage 2) if their explanations and supporting information at the Risk Assessment Meeting address our concerns.
- (ii) The provider will remain at this stage if financial sustainability risks are confirmed but appear to be under management control. This may require closer monitoring of financial performance and may involve more frequent information requests and additional meetings with management.
- (iii) The provider will move on to Stage 5 if financial sustainability risks are confirmed and there is potential for them to escalate. For example, the provider is in debt restructuring negotiations with its lenders.

Stage 5 – Regulatory action and engagement

What is this stage for?

For us to use our regulatory tools to gain more detailed information on financial sustainability risks and to access professional advice where appropriate.

For us to understand what the next steps are for the provider, to understand the intentions of its stakeholders (for instance, lenders and shareholders), and to monitor any debt restructuring negotiations.

What will we do?

Where the provider is reliant on the support of stakeholders, such as lenders or shareholders to remain viable, we will seek assurance that the provider has their continued support. This might be through written evidence or it might be through meeting with these stakeholders. We will never engage with any stakeholders without the provider's consent but will expect all providers to agree to any such reasonable request.

Where the provider's plans involve any form of business or debt re-structuring, we may shadow the negotiations it has with lenders and/or landlords at this stage – again, with the consent of the provider.

What this effectively means is that we will be observing ongoing negotiations and restructuring proposals so that we are able to assess how these will affect providers' abilities to carry on regulated activities and whether our duty to notify Local Authorities is triggered (see Stage 6 for more detail).

While the provider and other parties involved in these negotiations will undoubtedly have the interests of people using the services at the forefront of their considerations, it is important to note that our sole purpose for observing these discussions is to assess the likely impact on those people and to make sure Local Authorities have the time and necessary information to respond. It is not for us to argue for, or against, any particular commercial outcome, nor is it for us to become involved in commercial discussions, except to the extent they impact on continuity of care.

To assist in our assessment of the notification criteria (see Stage 6 for more detail), we may decide to use one of our regulatory powers³ and commission an Independent Business Review or request that the provider produces a Risk Mitigation Plan. We would do this when we have concerns that the business strategy or financial position poses a risk to sustainability, or we require clarification of issues discussed at the Risk Assessment Meeting.

These tools are explained in more detail below.

³ See section 55(2) of the Care Act (2014).

Independent Business Reviews

Through an Independent Business Review (IBR) we would have the assistance of independent advisors who would provide expert insight on certain aspects of a provider's group structure, financial performance and/or future plans. This is likely to be narrower and more focused than an IBR that may be undertaken by lenders, although we may use a broader focused review if necessary. This will enable us to access specialist advice and support on complex areas of risk during the restructuring negotiations. Other than CQC's administrative costs, providers are liable for the cost of carrying out an IBR.

Examples of where we may need an IBR are:

- The provider has a complex legal or financing structure that requires specialist assessment.
- We do not have adequate visibility on current trading, which may have an influence on the provider's risk profile.
- The provider's future financial position is dependent on delivering a restructuring and/or turnaround plan. An independent view is required on the risks of achieving the plan and the likely outcomes if the plan is not achieved.
- We need to review the findings of an IBR already requested by a lender.

Risk Mitigation Plan

We may require the provider to draw up a Risk Mitigation Plan to explain how they will mitigate or eliminate any risks should current agreements with financial stakeholders fail to hold, or any required improvements in performance are not achieved. It would allow us to assess the impact of any proposed restructuring plan on the continuity and quality of regulated services. We will want to reach a view on the likely effectiveness of the mitigation plan and to assess whether our duty to notify Local Authorities will be triggered.

For example, a Risk Mitigation Plan may be requested where:

- The IBR has identified concerns over the sustainability of the business because debt levels are too high.
- Lenders have stated they are looking at all their options, including contingency planning.
- The provider is in a restructuring process where a number of options are being pursued. There are conflicting objectives or a lack of consensus among the key stakeholders required to deliver a consensual restructuring
- The proposed restructuring plan could involve formal insolvency procedures, of which the impact on the continuity and quality of care services will need to be assessed.

The Risk Mitigation Plan will also ensure we have the information required if our duty to notify Local Authorities is triggered in the future. For example, we will ask the provider to give us the postcodes of all the people they care for in their own homes. This information helps us identify which Local Authorities are affected so that we know which ones we need to notify.

What happens next?

On the basis of all the information we have gathered at these stages, we will determine whether the conditions which trigger our statutory duty to inform Local Authorities of likely business failure have been met. These are described in detail below.

Where we do not believe these conditions have been met, we will decide the level of ongoing monitoring required to enable us to effectively assess whether our duty to notify the Local Authority will be triggered. The provider will move to the appropriate stage in the model that aligns with this assessment.

Stage 6 – Formal notification of likely business failure to Local Authorities

What is this stage for?

To provide early warning to Local Authorities that the business of a provider in the Market Oversight Scheme is likely to fail and that this failure is likely to cause a registered provider to be unable to carry on one or more of its relevant regulated activities.

Our expectation is that providers would have discussions with Local Authorities and other stakeholders ahead of a formal notification being made to ensure the wellbeing of people receiving care is safeguarded. We will encourage providers in the Scheme to do this. However, this Stage gives us the opportunity to formally notify Local Authorities whether or not providers have been engaging with them or with other stakeholders in this way.

What will we do?

In describing what we will do at this stage, we set out below when we will notify, how we will notify, who we will notify and what the notification will contain. We will also look at when the duty of Local Authorities to step in is triggered.

When will we notify Local Authorities?

Section 56(1) and (2) of the Care Act 2014 require that, where we are satisfied that a registered provider that is subject to the Market Oversight Scheme is likely to become unable to carry on a registered regulated activity because of business failure, we must inform the Local Authorities that we think will be required to carry out the temporary duty to ensure continuity of care. The Local Authorities required to carry out this temporary duty are those in which the care is delivered.

There are three conditions that have to be satisfied in order to trigger this duty to notify Local Authorities:

- a. Business failure.
- b. A registered provider is unable to carry on a regulated activity, by which we mean it is likely that a service will close, or a regulated activity will cease (which may require the Local Authority to need to step in and carry out its duty under s.48(2) of the Care Act 2014).
- c. It is likely that both of these may happen and b) happens because of a).

We will describe each of these in turn here.

a) Satisfying the “business failure” condition

Appendix B lists the situations that meet the definition of business failure as stated in The Care and Support (Business Failure) Regulations 2015.

We will consider this condition as having been met if any of these happen (or are likely to happen) to any legal entity within the wider corporate group, as per the definition of a group undertaking in section 1161(5) of the Companies Act 2006, and not just to the “registered provider” whose financial sustainability we are required to assess under section 55 of the Care Act.

We have come to this view for the following two reasons:

1. To consider that our duty to notify Local Authorities of likely business failure is only triggered when that failure happens to registered providers rather than another entity within the corporate group, such as the parent company, would undermine the intentions of the Market Oversight Scheme.
2. In complex group structures, the subsidiary companies may not initially be placed directly into Administration. In order to gain control and rescue a business, an Insolvency Practitioner (IP) will determine the entity in a corporate group which is to be put into Administration based on what will deliver the outcome required in the most efficient and effective way. However, by placing a parent company or other holding company into Administration, the corporate provider will have effectively failed in the eyes of the public. Also, there is an increased risk, which will be deemed more than probable for the purposes of Market Oversight, that the subsidiary companies (in this case the registered providers) may be subject to an insolvency process in the future.

b) Satisfying the “registered provider is unable to carry on a regulated activity, by which we mean it is likely that a service will close, or a regulated activity will cease (which may require the Local Authority to need to step in and carry out its duty under s.48(2) of the Care Act 2014)” condition

This means that notification to a Local Authority will only take place when we think that Local Authorities may need to step in and carry out their duty under Section 48(2) because a regulated activity will cease.

This does not mean that we must second-guess the ultimate decision of a Local Authority or become involved in Local Authority discussions as to whether Section 48(2) is triggered from the perspective of a Local Authority. That is a decision solely for the Local Authority to make.

The following are examples where we would consider this condition to be met, remembering of course that this inability to carry on the regulated activity must always be because of business failure:

- The closure of a location where the regulated activity is provided.

- A location ceases to provide one of its regulated activities (for example, a location which is both a care home and a supported living service will be registered for personal care and also accommodation for nursing or personal care. If it ceases to provide the accommodation regulated activity and only delivers personal care through a supported living service, this would meet the condition).

c) Satisfying the “likely” condition

“Likely” means that, on a balance of probabilities, a registered care provider satisfies the “business failure” and “unable to carry on a regulated activity” conditions (see above).

We do not have to prove conclusively that the conditions will be satisfied, only that the conditions are more probable to occur than not.

The decision will be based on a reasonable, fair and proportionate assessment of the information available from our assessment activity. There is, however, a possibility that actual business failure may never occur or the provider may never reach a position where it becomes unable to carry on a regulated activity even after Local Authorities have been notified by us that these events are likely.

At all stages of the assessment of financial sustainability, we maintain open dialogue with providers and are transparent with them. There is always the opportunity for them to challenge us at any stage in the process by presenting new information about past performance and future strategy which could alter the views we may form. Before we make a decision on whether a provider is likely to become unable to carry on a regulated activity because of business failure, we will give providers the opportunity to confirm the accuracy of the information on which we intend to base the ultimate decision on financial sustainability.

Who will we notify?

We will send the notifications to the Director of Adult Social Services, copying to the Chief Executive, at the Local Authorities which we believe may need to ‘step in’ to ensure continuity of care. These are the Local Authorities where people are receiving the care service – i.e. where care homes are located or where people live if they are receiving home care.

How will we notify?

Notification to Local Authorities will be made by email, followed by a letter.

We will follow up the email with a telephone call to confirm receipt. We will offer the opportunity to meet or to discuss over the telephone what the implications of the notification are and what the next steps will be. These discussions will be imperative, particularly where the impact of the failure is of significant scale, is complex or is not clear. We will ask the Director of Adult Social Services to nominate an individual responsible for day-to-day liaison with CQC about the likely failure.

Where the failure is of significant scale, we will consider setting up a briefing meeting for Local Authorities to attend. Representatives from the provider will also be able to attend this meeting to explain the situation in more detail. There will be a lot of information to share and lots of questions which would suit a face-to-face forum.

What will the notification include?

The notification will provide as full a picture as possible as to what we believe will be the impact and timescales of the likely business failure upon the registered provider's ability to carry on the regulated activity. The notification will clearly state that the provider may not ultimately fail and that there may ultimately be no impact on its ability to deliver regulated activities. However, it will state that we believe that it is more likely than not that the provider will fail and that this is likely to be followed by an inability to deliver a regulated activity and that the Local Authority may need to step in to ensure continuity of care.

In the notification, we will explain why we believe that the Local Authority's temporary duty to ensure care continuity may be triggered. It will explain CQC's statutory duties under Section 56(1) and 56(2) of the Care Act as well as (in brief) the requirements of Local Authorities under Section 48(2).

Notifications will contain an assessment of the current situation and likely outcome and will remind Local Authorities that failure is not inevitable and that the purpose of notification is to allow them time to prepare to implement contingency plans which they should already have made. We will clearly set out the risks of the Local Authority's actions pre-empting actual failure and will promote close cooperation between them and the provider and its advisors. The notification will also remind Local Authorities that the act of notification itself is highly sensitive, that it contains sensitive information and that it should not be shared more widely by them. Our notification to Local Authorities will always include:

- A clear statement that this is an early warning, giving them the opportunity to prepare to implement contingency plans, and that the next steps are for the Local Authority to engage with the provider/Insolvency Practitioner (IP).
- What the known intentions of any IPs are, for example, which specific care homes are at risk of closure.
- A paragraph summarising how we came to our decision that all three conditions (as set out above) have been met.
- Which business failure activity (appointment of an administrator or receiver, for instance) is expected to happen and when this is likely to occur.

- Which registered providers and what regulated activities are affected and in which Local Authority areas they deliver care; Local Authorities will then be aware of which other Local Authorities have received the notification.
- Details on how to contact specific individuals at the provider and within CQC for further information or advice.

Who else will we share the fact of notification with?

It is likely to be helpful to share the fact of notification with the public as well as with other groups. Whether we do this and the timing of it will be very carefully considered. The potential impact on the people using the services will be at the heart of the decision of if and when to publish notification.

There may be occasions where sharing the fact that we have notified affected Local Authorities will help deliver the aims of the Scheme to protect people in potentially vulnerable circumstances. Sharing the notification more widely will allow other key partners who will need to support any contingency planning to be engaged appropriately, such as NHS England and Clinical Commissioning Groups for arranging nursing care. Only informing affected Local Authorities may also mean that people who use services and their carers and families may get different accounts of the facts.

While we are clear there are advantages in sharing the notification, there are also important aspects that would need to be handled properly to avoid any action being taken that will pre-empt or precipitate failure. The notification is of likely failure and not definite failure. There is a very real risk that, if not handled and communicated properly, wider sharing of a notification could pre-empt a failure that may not otherwise have happened or increase the impact of a failure. It is important that the process of notification is shared in a consistent manner and from a single source.

When we make a notification of likely business failure, we will inform the Department of Health and any other regulator that regulates the specific provider. Beyond that, in deciding when and with whom we share the fact of notification, we will act in a fair, reasonable and proportionate way, with each case being judged on its merits. In particular, we will consider the impact of failure and whether wider notification may adversely impact on people using the services: for instance, whether we would be likely to jeopardise the success of a restructuring plan and, in doing so, have a negative effect on a provider's ability to deliver care.

What if business failure does not occur?

Where we have previously made a notification to a Local Authority but the provider did not go on to fail or become unable to provide a regulated activity, we will ensure all those we informed of the notification are made aware of this fact. We will seek the provider's input for how we describe this situation. As with the notification, this will be very carefully worded; we will balance the need to be transparent with the need to be clear that the previous judgement has now been re-assessed. We will not make statements about ongoing financial sustainability, however. We will only make statements which focus on the prior notification, explaining the circumstances which led to us judging the risk of business failure was no longer likely.

When is the Local Authority duty triggered?

Local Authority duties to step in to meet needs under Section 48(2) of the Care Act will only be triggered when a regulated activity has ceased following the business failure of the registered provider. The conditions that must be satisfied for us to inform the affected authorities that failure is likely are different to the conditions that need to be satisfied for Local Authorities to step in and meet needs. As set out above, business failure and service closure do not need to occur for our duty to notify to be triggered, but we do need to have judged them as being likely to happen. However, the duty of Local Authorities to step in, under Section 48(2) of the Care Act, is only triggered once a regulated activity stops being delivered following business failure.

It will be for those Local Authorities to decide how to discharge their obligations under Section 48(2) in situations where, for example, an Authority does not commission from the affected provider but is aware that other Authorities do. The Department of Health has issued guidance on this issue⁴.

What we expect from providers

Following our notification to Local Authorities, providers are still subject to the requirements of the Market Oversight Scheme. They still need to comply with our requests for information and continue to engage with us so that we can monitor the ongoing financial situation and the ability to continue to deliver regulated activities. We also expect providers to enter into open dialogue with the affected Local Authorities, their customers and staff. We will explore this in more detail in the next section.

Roles and responsibilities in the event of business failure

The statutory duty on CQC for the Market Oversight Scheme is to provide an early warning of failure. Should business failure happen, there are many people and organisations who will be involved in managing the consequences for people who use services and for staff delivering services.

Every business failure scenario has the potential to be different in terms of the complexity and scale of impact on the people using the service. But for every failure there are some common areas of activity which will need to be carried out, often through organisations working together.

This section briefly describes those areas and reflects on some of the key considerations that will need to be made at the time of the failure. These areas are relevant where CQC has made a formal notification to Local Authorities that business failure is likely and regulated activity may cease. However, there are equally relevant issues in other restructuring and sale scenarios which have not prompted formal notification as these can also cause uncertainty for people who use services and staff.

The primary responsibility sits with the provider itself and the relevant Local Authorities where services are delivered. Providers, and any appointed Insolvency Practitioners, should ensure the people who use their services and their relatives, staff, commissioners and suppliers are aware of the situation and the likely impact on them. Local Authorities have the duty to ensure people continue to have their care needs met if services close and will need to work with those people to make this a reality.

To support the provider and the Local Authorities, there are a number of national partners who can provide assistance and, where necessary, leadership in the response to failure. The four key national parties will be CQC, the Department of Health (DH), the Association of Directors of Adult Social Services (ADASS) and the Local Government Association (LGA). These will need to work very closely with the specific provider and any appointed Insolvency Practitioners.

In addition to CQC, DH, LGA and ADASS, there are other bodies that might have a role, depending on the circumstances. These range from the governments and care regulators in Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland (where providers in the Scheme also operate there) to bodies such as provider representative bodies, NHS England, trade unions, other providers and regulators and organisations who represent people who use services. These organisations will be engaged in the key functions we highlight below as appropriate

Alongside the core activity to ensure continuity of care for individuals using services there are three key tasks that need to be carried out in response to the failure of a care provider in the Scheme:

- Consistent and timely messaging
- Monitoring of providers
- Registration of providers

Consistent and timely messaging

Ensuring the right people have the right information at the right time will be critical to minimise, as far as possible, people's understandable anxiety and concern about the impact on them. It also means the right people can take the right action to ensure care can continue to be delivered.

The provider will need to ensure there is consistent and timely communication about what is happening, what the impact is and the likely next steps. Where necessary, it will need to work with the relevant Local Authority to do this. DH, CQC, ADASS and LGA will endeavour to support the provider and any Administrator (or other Insolvency Practitioner) to make sure there are effective, regular and consistent communications for some key groups, such as:

- People who use the providers services and their families and carers
- Staff working in the provider, and their Trade Unions
- Commissioners purchasing care from the provider

Monitoring of providers

During any Administration process, the quality of care being delivered by the provider will need to continue to be monitored. This includes inspection and regulation from CQC nationally, but also local contract monitoring arrangements put in place by Local Authorities. The quality of care being delivered must not deteriorate in any failure, and the usual national and local measures to ensure quality will continue so people using services can be confident of the quality of care being delivered.

During any failure, CQC will continue to monitor, inspect and rate services and, where necessary, will take action to ensure services improve, using its usual approach

Registration

Depending on the outcome of negotiations between the Insolvency Practitioner and stakeholders such as prospective buyers, other care providers, lenders and landlords, we may need to carry out registration activity such as new registrations, variations or cancellations. This is not necessarily only the case where we have made a notification to Local Authorities; the sale of a care business might occur as part of restructuring activities where regulated activities do not cease.

Following business failure, providers may need to submit applications to vary or cancel their registrations or apply for new registrations. Where new registrations are vital to ensure continuity of care to people using services, to avoid regulated care being delivered by un-registered providers, we will prioritise this work. The speed at which we will do this will not impair our ability to apply the necessary level of scrutiny required for registration.

Insolvency scenarios are fluid in nature and this can present difficulties for us in carrying out our regulatory functions. For instance, where an administrator appoints 'caretaker' operators in care services, there may be a period where there is no legally accountable 'nominated individual' who can act as a point of contact for us on regulatory matters⁵. However, in matters such as these, and where possible, we will use appropriate discretion and act in the best interests of people using the service.

⁵ Regulation 5(2) the Health and Social Care Act 2008 (Regulated Activities) Regulations 2010. From April 2015 this will be Regulation 6(2) of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 (Regulated Activities) Regulations 2014.

3. Operational arrangements

Transition from the Department of Health's financial oversight scheme

Since 2012, the Department of Health (DH) has been monitoring the financial sustainability of the five largest corporate providers of residential care in England. These providers are:

- Four Seasons Group
- BUPA Group
- Barchester Healthcare
- HC-One Limited
- Care UK

These arrangements are voluntary and DH has no legal powers to require these organisations to provide information or to participate in the process. Nevertheless, they have done so willingly.

Along with the other providers to which Market Oversight applies, these five providers will be formally notified that they are subject to the Scheme after 6 April. For a short transition period, we are asking DH to monitor the financial sustainability these providers but this will be carried out on our behalf and in close collaboration with us and we will retain control over all key judgements and over any actions that may follow these.

If one of these providers appears likely to fail financially during this transition period, DH will lead the negotiations in response but we will be closely involved as we hold the legal powers. It is important to stress that DH will be advising us. We will have responsibility for taking key decisions, such as when engagement with stakeholders needs to happen or when Local Authorities need to be informed that business failure is likely, for example.

DH's information requirements differ to ours. During the transition period, the five providers will continue to meet DH's information requirements. By 1 May 2015, we will agree with DH when these providers should move to our information requirements. In coming to a view, we will involve the providers affected. All providers will have moved to our information requirements by 30 September 2015 at the latest.

Working with other regulators to reduce the regulatory burden on providers

Some providers in the Market Oversight Scheme might also be subject to financial regulation by other agencies. For instance, Monitor, the Homes and Communities Agency (HCA), the Charity Commission or care regulators in Scotland, Wales or Northern Ireland.

Where this is the case, we will work with those agencies to reduce the need for providers to supply the same information to more than one regulator and ensure that our activities are coordinated.

The extent to which this is possible will depend on a number of factors such as:

- Structure of the provider's business or group: The other regulator may be collecting information that relates to another part of a provider's business, such as its social housing business, which we cannot use to fulfil our statutory functions as part of Market Oversight.
- Nature of data being collected: The other regulators may use different information to inform their assessments of providers.
- The extent to which the other regulator's assessment of risk accords with our own: If there are differences, the other regulator might be requesting information on a less frequent basis or at a lower level of detail than we require.

We will agree and keep up-to-date information sharing agreements with any other regulators that assess providers where this will reduce provider burden and allow us to carry out our statutory function to assess providers' financial sustainability.

As part of its broader commitment to transparency, CQC publishes all such information sharing agreements, protocols and memoranda of understanding.

Responding to uncooperative providers

To assess the financial sustainability of care providers within the Scheme, we require providers to regularly engage with us and provide the information we request within specific timescales. Although we expect that providers will cooperate with us and comply with our requests for information, there may be occasions when they do not. When this happens, our first step will always be to contact the provider so that we can understand the reasons for the delay in sending information. Where we are not satisfied with the response, we will consider taking one or more of the steps set out below.

Information Undertakings

On entry into the Market Oversight Scheme, all registered providers included in the Scheme that are part of a wider corporate group are required to enter into a legally enforceable agreement (called an Information Undertaking) with the corporate body which holds decision making authority for that registered provider. This commits the 'group undertakings' (i.e. the group of registered providers and its corporate body) to provide us with the information we need to assess the financial sustainability of difficult to replace care providers. If a group undertaking is not cooperating with us, we will require one or more registered providers to enforce the Information Undertaking with them.

At the specific request of certain providers during the development of Market Oversight, we have provided an illustrative example undertaking at Appendix F, along with a table for providers to list all their registered providers, which could be updated quarterly as necessary. Regulations about Market Oversight information are at Appendix B.

Escalation up the Market Oversight operating model

If the group undertaking does not provide the required information without good reason and within the timeframe expected we may infer an increased financial risk and decide to escalate the group of registered providers up one or more stages in the Market Oversight model. Accordingly, this is likely to lead to closer scrutiny, wider and more frequent engagement with the provider and its stakeholders, and more detailed information requirements. It could ultimately lead to us notifying the relevant Local Authorities that we believe business failure is likely.

Use of enforcement in Market Oversight

In addition to information undertakings and/or escalation through the Market Oversight Operating Model, we may consider other enforcement action against one or more of the registered providers should they not cooperate with our requests. Any action will be considered on a 'case-by-case' basis and will be proportionate. For instance, if we do not receive the required response through the route of the information undertaking, we may consider issuing a warning notice to one or more of the registered providers in the corporate group. In line with our enforcement policy, providers are able to make representations against publication of these notices but, even where these are upheld, Local Authorities must always be made aware of them and the reasons why they were issued.

Other enforcement actions we may consider include, but are not limited to, cancellation or suspension of a provider's registration. Any enforcement action through Market Oversight is independent of enforcement action taken against providers for care quality reasons.

Appendix A: Glossary of terms

Corporate provider	A company which operates at least one registered provider but is not itself required to register with CQC.
EBITDA	Earnings before Interest, Tax, Depreciation and Amortisation.
Group undertaking	As defined in Section 1161(5) of the Companies Act 2006. Can be either a parent company or the subsidiary of a parent company.
KPI	Key performance indicator.
Non-residential care service	Service which provides regulated care to people in their own homes such as domiciliary care agency or supported living service.
Operational gearing	The relationship between fixed and variable costs. Higher fixed costs mean greater operational gearing and vice versa. High gearing makes a firm's profits sensitive to a change in sales.
Personal Care services	This consists of providing personal care for people who are unable to provide it for themselves because of old age, illness or disability, in the place where they are living.
Provider	Depending on context, refers to either a registered provider or a corporate provider.
Registered provider	A company which is registered by CQC to deliver regulated activities.
Residential Care services	Care home accommodation for people who require nursing or personal care.

Appendix B: The Care Act (2014); and The Care and Support Regulations in relation to Market Oversight

The Care Act 2014 (Sections 53-57)

53 Specifying criteria for application of market oversight regime

- (1) Regulations must specify criteria for determining whether (subject to regulations under subsection (4)) section 55 (financial sustainability assessment) applies to a registered care provider who is registered in respect of the carrying on of a regulated activity relating to the provision of social care for adults.
- (2) In specifying the criteria, the Secretary of State must have regard to the following in particular—
 - (a) the amount of social care provided by a registered care provider,
 - (b) the geographical concentration of a registered care provider's business,
 - (c) the extent to which a registered care provider specialises in the provision of particular types of care.
- (3) The Secretary of State must—
 - (a) at such times as the Secretary of State considers appropriate, review the criteria for the time being specified in the regulations, and
 - (b) publish information about how the matters mentioned in subsection (2), and any other matters to which the Secretary of State has regard in specifying the criteria, are to be measured.
- (4) Regulations may provide that section 55 does not apply, or applies only to the extent specified, to a specified registered care provider or to a registered care provider of a specified description, regardless of whether that provider or a provider of that description would satisfy the criteria.
- (5) Regulations may provide that section 55 applies, or applies to the extent specified, to a specified registered care provider or to a registered care provider of a specified description, regardless of whether that provider or a provider of that description would satisfy the criteria.
- (6) The circumstances in which regulations may be made under subsection (4) include those in which the Secretary of State is satisfied that certain registered care providers are already subject to a regulatory regime comparable to that provided for by sections 55 and 56; and regulations made in such circumstances may, for example, make provision requiring specified persons to co-operate or to share information of a specified description.

(7) “Social care” has the same meaning as in Part 1 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

54 Determining whether criteria apply to care provider

(1) The Care Quality Commission must determine, in the case of each registered care provider, whether the provider satisfies one or more of the criteria specified in regulations under section 53.

(2) If the Commission determines that the provider satisfies one or more of the criteria, section 55 applies to that provider unless, or except in so far as, regulations under section 53(4) provide that it does not apply.

(3) Where section 55 applies to a registered care provider (whether as a result of subsection (2) or as a result of regulations under section 53(5)), the Commission must inform the provider accordingly.

55 Assessment of financial sustainability of care provider

(1) Where this section applies to a registered care provider, the Care Quality Commission must assess the financial sustainability of the provider's business of carrying on the regulated activity in respect of which it is registered.

(2) Where the Commission, in light of an assessment under subsection (1), considers that there is a significant risk to the financial sustainability of the provider's business, it may—

(a) require the provider to develop a plan for how to mitigate or eliminate the risk;

(b) arrange for, or require the provider to arrange for, a person with appropriate professional expertise to carry out an independent review of the business.

(3) Where the Commission imposes a requirement on a care provider under subsection (2)(a), it may also require the provider—

(a) to co-operate with it in developing the plan, and

(b) to obtain its approval of the finalised plan.

(4) Where the Commission arranges for a review under subsection (2)(b), it may recover from the provider such costs as the Commission incurs in connection with the arrangements (other than its administrative costs in making the arrangements).

(5) Regulations may make provision for enabling the Commission to obtain from such persons as it considers appropriate information which the Commission believes will assist it to assess the financial sustainability of a registered care provider to which this section applies.

(6) Regulations may make provision about the making of the assessment required by subsection (1).

(7) The Commission may consult such persons as it considers appropriate on the method for assessing the financial sustainability of a registered care provider's business; and, having done so, it must publish guidance on the method it expects to apply in making the assessment.

56 Informing local authorities where failure of care provider likely

(1) This section applies where the Care Quality Commission is satisfied that a registered care provider to which section 55 applies is likely to become unable to carry on the regulated activity in respect of which it is registered because of business failure as mentioned in section 48.

(2) The Commission must inform the local authorities which it thinks will be required to carry out the duty under section 48(2) if the provider becomes unable to carry on the regulated activity in question.

(3) Where the Commission considers it necessary to do so for the purpose of assisting a local authority to carry out the duty under section 48(2), it may request the provider, or such other person involved in the provider's business as the Commission considers appropriate, to provide it with specified information.

(4) Where (as a result of subsection (3) or otherwise) the Commission has information about the provider's business that it considers may assist a local authority in carrying out the duty under section 48(2), the Commission must give the information to the local authority.

(5) Regulations may make provision as to the circumstances in which the Commission is entitled to be satisfied for the purposes of subsection (1) that a registered care provider is likely to become unable to carry on a regulated activity.

(6) The Commission may consult such persons as it considers appropriate on the methods to apply in assessing likelihood for the purposes of subsection (1); and, having carried out that consultation, it must publish guidance on the methods it expects to apply in making the assessment.

57 Sections 54 to 56: supplementary

(1) For the purposes of Part 1 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008, the duties imposed on the Care Quality Commission under sections 54(1) and 55(1) are to be treated as regulatory functions of the Commission.

(2) For the purposes of that Part of that Act, the doing by the Commission of anything for the purpose of assisting a local authority to carry out the duty under section 48(2) is to be treated as one of the Commission's regulatory functions.

(3) For the purposes of sections 17 and 18 of that Act (cancellation or suspension of registration under Part 1 of that Act), a requirement imposed on a registered care provider under or by virtue of any of sections 54 to 56 (or by virtue of subsection (1) or (2)) is to be treated as a requirement imposed by or under Chapter 6 of Part 1 of that Act.

(4) The Commission must, in exercising any of its functions under sections 54 to 56, have regard to the need to minimise the burdens it imposes on others.

SOCIAL CARE, ENGLAND

The Care and Support (Market Oversight Criteria) Regulations 2015

Made - - - - - 11th February 2015

Coming into force in accordance with regulation 1(1)

The Secretary of State makes these Regulations in exercise of the powers conferred by sections 53(1) and 125(7) and (8) of the Care Act 2014(a).

The Secretary of State has had regard to the matters specified in section 53(2) of the Care Act 2014 in making these Regulations.

In accordance with section 125(4)(g) of the Care Act 2014, a draft of these Regulations was laid before Parliament and was approved by a resolution of each House of Parliament.

Citation, commencement and interpretation

1.—(1) These Regulations may be cited as the Care and Support (Market Oversight Criteria) Regulations 2015 and come into force immediately after section 53(1) of the Care Act 2014(b) comes fully into force.

(2) In these Regulations—

“the Act” means the Care Act 2014;

“the 2014 Regulations” means the Health and Social Care Act 2008 (Regulated Activities) Regulations 2014(c);

“group undertaking” has the meaning given by section 1161(5) of the Companies Act 2006(d);

“undertaking” has the meaning given by section 1161(1) of the Companies Act 2006.

(a) 2014 c.23 (“the Act”). The powers to make regulations are exercisable by the Secretary of State, see section 125(1).

(b) Section 53(1) was commenced on 1 October 2014 for the purposes of making regulations by S.I. 2014/2473.

(c) S.I. 2014/2936.

(d) 2006 c.46. See S.I. 2008/1911 as to the application of section 1161(5) with modifications to limited liability partnerships.

Providers of personal care (non-residential)

2.—(1) Section 55 of the Act applies to a registered care provider^(a) who is not a local authority^(b) and who is registered in respect of the carrying on of the regulated activity set out in paragraph 1 of Schedule 1 to the 2014 Regulations (personal care) where—

- (a) the number of hours of regulated care provided by the registered care provider in a week is 30,000 or more; or
- (b) the number of people to whom regulated care is provided by the registered care provider in a week is 2,000 or more; or
- (c) the number of—
 - (i) people to whom regulated care is provided by the registered care provider in a week is 800 or more; and
 - (ii) hours of regulated care provided by that provider in the same week divided by that number of people exceeds 30.

(2) In this regulation, “regulated care” means care provided in connection with the carrying on of the regulated activity set out in paragraph 1 of Schedule 1 to the 2014 Regulations (personal care).

(3) For the purpose of this regulation, where a registered care provider is an undertaking—

- (a) the hours of regulated care provided by the provider include hours of regulated care provided by any group undertaking of the provider; and
- (b) the number of people to whom regulated care is provided by the provider includes people to whom regulated care is provided by any group undertaking of the provider.

Providers of residential care

3.—(1) Section 55 of the Act applies to a registered care provider who is not a local authority and who is registered in respect of the carrying on of the regulated activity set out in paragraph 2 of Schedule 1 to the 2014 Regulations (accommodation for persons who require nursing or personal care) where the bed capacity of that provider is—

- (a) 1,000 or more but less than 2,000 and where—
 - (i) the bed capacity of that provider is at least 1 in each of 16 or more local authority areas; or
 - (ii) the bed capacity of that provider in each of 3 or more local authority areas exceeds 10 per cent. of the total bed capacity in each of those local authority areas; or
- (b) 2,000 or more.

(2) In this regulation—

“bed capacity” means the number of beds made available by a registered care provider in connection with the carrying on of the regulated activity set out in paragraph 2 of Schedule 1 to the 2014 Regulations (accommodation for persons who require nursing or personal care); and

“total bed capacity” means the number of beds made available by all registered care providers in connection with the carrying on of the regulated activity set out in paragraph 2 of Schedule 1 to the 2014 Regulations (accommodation for persons who require nursing or personal care).

(3) For the purpose of this regulation, where the registered care provider is an undertaking, the bed capacity of the provider includes the bed capacity of any group undertaking of the provider.

(a) See section 48(1) of the Act for the meaning of “registered care provider”.

(b) See section 1(4) of the Act for the meaning of “local authority”; the definition is limited to local authorities in England.

Signed by authority of the Secretary of State for Health.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

Section 54(1) of the Care Act 2014 (c.23) (“the Act”) imposes a duty on the Care Quality Commission to determine whether a registered care provider satisfies the criteria for entry into the market oversight regime (see section 53 of the Act). These Regulations set out the entry criteria to the market oversight regime, which is a regime to monitor the financial sustainability of certain difficult to replace registered care providers.

Regulation 2 sets out the criteria for entry applicable to providers of personal (non-residential) care, that is, providers who are registered in respect of the carrying on of the regulated activity set out in paragraph 1 of Schedule 1 to the Health and Social Care Act 2008 (Regulated Activities) Regulations 2014 (“the 2014 Regulations”). The criteria will be satisfied where a provider is not a local authority and where they:

- provide at least 30,000 hours of care in a week anywhere in England; or
- provide at least 2,000 people with care in a week anywhere in England; or
- provide at least 800 people with care in a week anywhere in England and the number of hours of care provided in the same week divided by that number of people exceeds 30.

Regulation 2 also provides that the criteria may be met by counting the hours of care provided by any group undertaking of the relevant provider or counting the people to whom care is provided by any such group undertaking.

Regulation 3 sets out the criteria for entry applicable to providers of residential care, that is, providers who are registered in respect of the carrying on of the regulated activity set out in paragraph 2 of Schedule 1 to the 2014 Regulations. The criteria will be satisfied where a provider is not a local authority and where they have a bed capacity:

- of at least 2,000 anywhere in England; or
- of between 1,000 to 1,999 overall, with 1 bed or more in at least 16 local authorities in England; or
- of between 1,000 to 1,999 anywhere in England and where their bed capacity in each of 3 or more local authorities in England exceeds 10 per cent. of the total bed capacity in each of those local authorities.

Regulation 3 also provides that the bed capacity of a provider includes the bed capacity of any group undertaking.

A separate impact assessment has not been prepared for these Regulations. SOCIAL CARE, ENGLAND

The Care and Support (Market Oversight Information)
Regulations 2014

Made - - - - - 6th October 2014

Laid before Parliament 24th October 2014

Coming into force in accordance with regulation 1(1)

The Secretary of State makes these Regulations in exercise of the powers conferred by sections 55(5), 125(7) and (8) of the Care Act 2014(a).

Citation, commencement and interpretation

1.—(1) These Regulations may be cited as the Care and Support (Market Oversight Information) Regulations 2014 and come into force immediately after section 55(5) of the Care Act 2014 comes fully into force(b).

(2) In these Regulations—

“the Act” means the Care Act 2014;

“the Commission” means the Care Quality Commission(c);

“group undertaking” has the meaning given by section 1161(5) of the Companies Act 2006(d) and “undertaking” (except in the case of an information undertaking) has the meaning given by section 1161(1) of that Act;

“information” means any information, documents, records or other material;

“information undertaking” is to be construed in accordance with regulation 2.

Undertaking to provide information

2.—(1) This regulation applies where a registered care provider(e) to whom section 55 of the Act applies is an undertaking.

(2) The Commission may require the registered care provider to obtain from a group undertaking of the provider an “information undertaking” to provide the Commission with such information as the Commission requests.

(3) An information undertaking must be in a form which is legally enforceable by the registered care provider.

(a) 2014 c. 23 (“the Act”). The powers to make regulations are exercisable by the Secretary of State. See section 125(1) of the Act.

(b) Section 55(5) was commenced for the purpose of making regulations by S.I. 2014/2473.

(c) Established by section 1(1) of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 (c. 14).

(d) 2006 c.46. See S.I. 2008/1911 as to the application of section 1161(5) with modifications to limited liability partnerships.

(e) See section 48(1) of the Act for the meaning of “registered care provider”.

Form of the information undertaking

3. The Commission may specify the form of an information undertaking and may provide in particular that—

- (a) information must be provided at such times and such places as may be specified by the Commission;
- (b) an explanation of any information must be provided at such times and such places as may be specified by the Commission;
- (c) information and explanations must be provided in such manner or format as may be specified by the Commission;
- (d) the group undertaking must co-operate with the Commission in connection with providing information and explanations; and
- (e) information and explanations must be complete and accurate.

Time for provision of information undertaking, etc.

4.—(1) The registered care provider must obtain the information undertaking within such period as the Commission specifies.

(2) The registered care provider must send to the Commission a copy of the information undertaking within such period as the Commission specifies.

(3) The information undertaking must remain in force for as long as—

- (a) the person required to provide information remains a group undertaking of the registered care provider; and
- (b) section 55 of the Act continues to apply to the registered care provider.

Breach, etc.

5.—(1) The registered care provider must inform the Commission immediately in writing if it becomes aware that—

- (a) the information undertaking has ceased to be in force;
- (b) the information undertaking has ceased to be legally enforceable; or
- (c) any terms of the information undertaking have been breached.

(2) The registered care provider must comply with any request made by the Commission to enforce the information undertaking.

Signed by authority of the Secretary of State for Health.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

Section 55(1) of the Care Act 2014 (c.23) imposes a duty on the Care Quality Commission to assess the financial sustainability of a registered care provider subject to the market oversight regime. These Regulations make provision for the Commission to obtain information from persons other than the registered care provider to assist it in making this assessment.

Regulation 2 provides that the Commission may require a registered care provider to obtain from a group undertaking, a legally enforceable undertaking to provide information. Regulations 3 to 5 make further provision in relation to the information undertaking.

A separate impact assessment has not been prepared for these Regulations. These Regulations are part of a package of legislative measures and the relevant impact assessment can be requested via careactconsultation@dh.gsi.gov.uk or the Department of Health, Richmond House, 79 Whitehall, London, SW1A 2NS and is available online at <https://www.gov.uk/government/organisations/department-of-health>.

SOCIAL CARE

The Care and Support (Business Failure) Regulations 2015

Made - - - - 11th February 2015

Coming into force in accordance with regulation 1(2) and (3)

The Secretary of State makes these Regulations in exercise of the powers conferred by sections 52(12) and 125(7) and (8) of the Care Act 2014(a).

In accordance with section 125(4)(f) of the Care Act 2014, a draft of these Regulations was laid before Parliament and was approved by a resolution of each House of Parliament.

In accordance with section 125(9) of the Care Act 2014, the Secretary of State has consulted the Welsh Ministers and the Department for Health, Social Services and Public Safety in Northern Ireland before making these Regulations.

Citation, commencement and interpretation

1.—(1) These Regulations may be cited as the Care and Support (Business Failure) Regulations 2015.

(2) Subject to paragraph (3), these Regulations come into force on the day on which section 52(12) of the Act comes fully into force(b).

(3) Insofar as these Regulations make provision for the purposes of—

- (a) section 50 of the Act(c), and
- (b) section 52 of the Act insofar as it relates to section 50, they come into force for those purposes on the day on which section 50 of the Act comes fully into force.

(4) In these Regulations—

- “the Act” means the Care Act 2014;
- “the 1986 Act” means the Insolvency Act 1986(d);
- “the 1989 Order” means the Insolvency (Northern Ireland) Order 1989(e);
- “a members’ voluntary winding up” means a winding up where a statutory declaration has

(a) 2014 c.23 (“the Act”). The powers to make regulations are exercisable by the Secretary of State, see section 125(1).
(b) Section 52(12) was commenced on 1 October 2014 for the purposes of making regulations by S.I. 2014/2473.
(c) Section 50 concerns duties on local authorities in Wales to meet adults’ needs for care and support or carers’ needs for support in specified circumstances.
(d) 1986 c.45.

been made under section 89 of the 1986 Act or article 75 of the 1989 Order(a);

“a provider” means—

- (a) a registered care provider(b),
- (b) a person registered under Part 2 of the Care Standards Act 2000(c) in respect of an establishment or agency, or
- (c) a person registered under Part 3 of the Health and Social Services (Quality, Improvement and Regulation) (Northern Ireland) Order 2003(d) in respect of an establishment or agency;

“the relevant amount” means the amount specified in section 123(1)(a) of the 1986 Act (definition of inability to pay debts) or article 103(1)(a) of the 1989 Order (definition of inability to pay debts; the statutory demand) as the case may be.

Business failure

2.—(1) For the purposes of sections 48 and 50 to 52 of the Act—

- (a) business failure has the meaning given in paragraphs (2) to (5); and
- (b) a provider is to be treated as unable to carry on a regulated activity(e) or to carry on or manage an establishment or agency because of business failure if the provider’s inability to do so follows business failure.

(2) Where a provider is not an individual, business failure means that, in respect of that provider—

- (a) the appointment of an administrator (within the meaning given by paragraph 1(1) of Schedule B1 to the 1986 Act(f) or paragraph 2(1) of Schedule B1 to the 1989 Order(g)) takes effect;
- (b) a receiver is appointed;
- (c) an administrative receiver as defined in section 251 of the 1986 Act(h) or article 5 of the 1989 Order is appointed;
- (d) a resolution for a voluntary winding up is passed other than in a members’ voluntary winding up;
- (e) a winding up order is made;
- (f) an order by virtue of article 11 of the Insolvent Partnerships Order 1994 (joint bankruptcy petition by individual members of insolvent partnership)(i) is made;
- (g) an order by virtue of article 11 of the Insolvent Partnerships Order (Northern Ireland) 1995 (joint bankruptcy petition by individual members of insolvent partnership)(j) is made;
- (h) the charity trustees of the provider become unable to pay their debts as they fall due;
- (i) every member of the partnership (in a case where the provider is a partnership) is adjudged bankrupt; or

(a) See S.I. 2001/1090 and 2012/3013 as to the application of section 89 to Limited Liability Partnerships and Charitable Incorporated Organisations respectively. As to the application of section 89 to co-operative and community benefit societies, see section 123 of the Co-operative and Community Benefit Societies Act 2014 (c.14), and as to the application of article 75 of the 1989 Order to industrial and provident societies in Northern Ireland, see section 64 of the Industrial and Provident Societies Act (Northern Ireland) 1969 (c.24), as substituted by S.I. 2009/1941.

(j) S.R. (N.I.) 1995 No. 225.

- (j) a voluntary arrangement proposed for the purposes of Part 1 of the 1986 Act^(a) or Part 2 of the 1989 Order has been approved under that Part of that Act or Order.
- (3) In relation to a provider who is an individual, business failure means that—
 - (a) the individual is adjudged bankrupt; or
 - (b) a voluntary arrangement pursuant to Part 8 of the 1986 Act or Part 8 of the 1989 Order is proposed by or entered into by the individual.
- (4) For the purposes of paragraph (2)(h), a person is a charity trustee of a provider if—
 - (a) the provider is a charity that is unincorporated; and
 - (b) the person is a trustee of that charity.
- (5) For the purposes of paragraph (2)(h), the charity trustees of a provider are to be treated as becoming unable to pay their debts as they fall due if—
 - (a) a creditor to whom the trustees are indebted in a sum exceeding the relevant amount then due has served on the trustees a written demand requiring the trustees to pay the sum so due and the trustees have for 3 weeks thereafter neglected to pay the sum or to secure or compound for it to the reasonable satisfaction of the creditor;
 - (b) in England and Wales, execution or other process issued on a judgment, decree or order of a court in favour of a creditor of the trustees is returned unsatisfied in whole or in part;
 - (c) in Scotland, the induciae of a charge for payment on an extract decree, or an extract registered bond, or an extract registered protest, have expired without payment being made; or
 - (d) in Northern Ireland, a certificate of unenforceability has been granted in respect of a judgment against the trustees.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

Sections 48 to 52 of the Care Act 2014 (“the Act”) impose duties (“temporary duties”) on local authorities in England and Wales, and on Health and Social Care trusts in Northern Ireland (“HSC trusts”), to meet care and support needs of adults, or support needs of carers, in circumstances where registered providers of care are unable to carry on because of “business failure”.

These Regulations make provision as to the interpretation, for those purposes, of “business failure” and as to circumstances in which a person is to be treated as unable to do something because of “business failure”. (As regards Scotland, certain duties are imposed on local authorities under Part 2 of the Social Work (Scotland) Act 1968.)

Regulation 2 sets out the events which constitute business failure for the purposes of the temporary duties on local authorities in England and Wales, and on HSC trusts.

In relation to a provider, other than an individual, registered in England, Wales or Northern Ireland, business failure consists of—

- the appointment of an administrator;

^(a) As to the application of Part 1 of the 1986 Act to co-operative and community benefit societies, see S.I. 2014/229 as amended by S.I. 2014/1822.

- the appointment of a receiver;
- the appointment of an administrative receiver;
- the passing of a resolution for a voluntary winding up in a creditors' voluntary winding up;
- the making of a winding up order;
- the making of bankruptcy orders where individual members of a partnership present a joint bankruptcy petition;
- in relation to an unincorporated charity, the charity trustees becoming unable to pay their debts as they fall due;
- all members of a partnership being adjudged bankrupt; or
- a voluntary arrangement being approved under the Insolvency Act 1986 ("the 1986 Act") or the Insolvency (Northern Ireland) Order 1989 ("the 1989 Order").

In relation to a provider who is an individual registered in England, Wales or Northern Ireland, business failure consists of the individual being adjudged bankrupt or proposing or entering into an individual voluntary arrangement under Part 8 of the 1986 Act or Part 8 of the 1989 Order.

Under the Act, the temporary duties are triggered where a registered provider becomes unable to carry on a regulated activity or to carry on an establishment or agency because of business failure. Regulation 2(1)(b) provides that a provider is to be treated as unable to carry on a regulated activity or to carry on or manage an establishment or agency because of business failure if the provider's inability to do so follows business failure.

A separate impact assessment has not been prepared for these Regulations. These Regulations are part of a package of legislative measures and the relevant impact assessment can be requested via careactconsultation@dh.gsi.gov.uk or Department of Health, Richmond House, 79 Whitehall, London SW1A 2NS and is available online at <https://www.gov.uk/government/organisations/department-of-health>.

Appendix C: Arrangements for ‘passporting’ providers into the Market Oversight Scheme who do not meet the entry criteria set out in Regulations

Section 53(5) of the Care Act 2014 enables the Secretary of State for Health to specify in Regulations the names of care providers to be subject to the Market Oversight Scheme, irrespective of whether they meet the objective entry criteria set out in regulations. From time to time, it may be appropriate for the Secretary of State to use these powers. This Appendix sets out examples where these powers may be used and the process that will be followed.

Care providers recommended to the Secretary of State because they are deemed ‘specialist’

Alongside those care providers that are large, geographically concentrated and spread across the country, it is intended that specialist providers should be subject to monitoring by the CQC.

‘Specialist providers’ should be taken to mean that the services a provider delivers are so specialised that it would be difficult for Local Authorities to replace them temporarily were they to fail. Many of these providers will already qualify for monitoring as they are likely to be part of a larger care organisation that also delivers significant levels of non-specialist care and so meets the entry criteria set out in regulations – those providers will face no additional cost burden. However, there may be a very small number of additional providers that do not meet the criteria relating to size, geographic concentration and spread but where Local Authorities would benefit from early warning of their likely failure regardless.

Should a Local Authority be required to temporarily step in and meet needs where a provider delivering specialist services because of business failure, replacement care may be arranged temporarily in different ways. For example, for a few weeks in a different setting with additional care staff allocated to ensure people’s needs are met, so the appropriateness of CQC oversight may therefore be low. For that reason, the number of specialist providers that are likely to be deemed ‘difficult to replace’ is small.

It has not been possible to develop objective criteria to be included in the entry criteria Regulations relating to ‘specialism’ largely because there is no agreed definition of the types of specialist services that Local Authorities would find temporarily difficult to replace were they to fail. The Government will instead consider using the powers set out above to make Regulations making those specific providers subject to the CQC’s Scheme.

The Department of Health will set up a panel, selected because of their expertise in and knowledge of the specialist care sector ('specialist panel'), to assist the Secretary of State in making his decision.

The specialist panel will meet and make provisional recommendations of additional providers to be overseen by the CQC. The providers featuring on the provisional recommendation list will be notified of this by the Department of Health and that they have 14 working days to make any objections known to the specialist panel. They will not be subject to the Scheme during this period so will not be required to submit any financial information to the CQC. The specialist panel will then reconvene to consider any relevant evidence, including any objections made by those providers and produce a final list recommended for inclusion and the reasons for doing so. The Secretary of State will then consider this advice and any other evidence when making the final decision. Should he decide to 'passport' any providers into the Scheme via this route, the providers in question will be notified by the Department as to the date they will be subject to financial monitoring by the CQC. Those providers will not have the opportunity to make further objections to the Secretary of State's decision.

Starting in April 2016, the process will then be repeated annually with the specialist panel considering whether any additional providers should be subject to CQC monitoring or any providers included in the Scheme via this route should be taken out of the Scheme. In doing so, the specialist panel will consider any changes to the scale of a provider's business and whether the risk to Local Authorities remains. The Secretary of State can consider any such request and has powers to add or remove providers from the Scheme. Should any changes be needed, Regulations will be laid before Parliament amending the original set of Regulations created for this purpose.

When in the Scheme, CQC will work with the provider to assess the level of risk posed. This will be done in a proportionate way that recognises that the information needed to make a risk assessment might not be routinely available, and that the information sought from smaller specialist providers should be proportionate to the risk of their failure.

Care providers recommended to the Secretary of State for inclusion in the Scheme for alternative reasons

From time to time, it is possible that the Secretary of State will receive requests to use his powers to passport providers into the Market Oversight Scheme. Requests may well come from any number of individuals or organisations and the evidence to support such requests may vary in terms of the strength of argument that the provider is in fact difficult to replace and should therefore be subject to financial monitoring.

Where such a request is received and relates directly to the specialist nature of the services the care provider in question delivers, the Department of Health will pass it on, along with any supporting evidence, to the specialist panel to consider whether the request should be taken forward and the process outlined in the above section followed. Where the specialist panel decides against taking forward the recommendation, the Department of Health will write to the individual or organisation making the request notifying them of the decision and the reasons.

Where such a request is received but does not directly relate to the specialist nature of the services a provider delivers, the Department of Health will use its discretion in deciding whether to take forward the request and, depending on the strength of the case put forward by the individual or organisation in question. For example, it may be the provider's business is structured in a way that means that it does not satisfy the objective criteria set out in regulations but a case be made that it would nonetheless be difficult to replace. Where the Department of Health decides against taking forward the recommendation, it will write to the individual or organisation making the request notifying them of the decision and the reasons. Where the Department of Health is minded to submit the recommendation to the Secretary of State to assist him in making the final decision, the Department of Health will write to the provider, notifying them that they are the subject of a recommendation and the reasons for this and invite them to make any objections known and submit supporting evidence. This information will be forwarded to the recommending individual or organisation to consider and decide whether they wish to continue with the recommendation. Should they wish to do so; the Secretary of State will consider this advice and any other evidence when making the final decision where the process outlined in the above section will be followed.

Should a provider enter the Scheme via this route, the Department of Health will review the decision on an annual basis which will include considering any new evidence that may arise supporting the case to take the provider out of the Scheme.

Appendix D: Financial and quality indicators

Primary Trading indicators

Indicator	Formula	Purpose
Sales movement	Current period sales compared to budget and prior year	To understand if a business is growing or in decline, and is performing in-line with Management's expectations. A deteriorating trend may provide early warning for future financial problems.
EBITDAR	Earnings before Interest, Tax, Depreciation, Amortisation, Rent and Exceptional Items	To understand the underlying profitability of a business after adjusting for non-cash items, rent and exceptional items.
EBITDAR movement	Current period EBITDAR compared to budget and prior year	To understand if profitability is increasing or decreasing, and is performing in-line with Management's expectations, in absolute terms. A deteriorating trend may provide early warning for future financial problems.
EBITDAR margin	EBITDAR divided by Sales	To understand the operational gearing of the provider and how susceptible profitability is to sales and cost fluctuations. A low EBITDAR margin may mean higher risk.
EBITDAR margin movement	Current period EBITDAR margin compared to budget and prior year	To understand if profitability is increasing or decreasing, and is performing in-line with Management's expectations, in relative terms. A deteriorating trend may provide early warning for future financial problems.
Occupancy levels (residential only)	Occupied beds divided by available beds	To understand occupancy trends and to compare to market benchmarks, taking into account different types of services.
Cash Flow Available for Debt Service ("CFADS")	See Financial Oversight Submission for definition	To ensure the provider is cash generative and is able to pay its debts as they fall due.
Repairs and Maintenance Capex spend per bed	Building repairs and maintenance costs plus Non-Discretionary Maintenance Capex divided by the number of Available Beds and the number of weeks in the relevant period	To understand if spend is increasing or decreasing, and to compare to market benchmarks. A significant reduction in capital expenditure, or below average spend, may signify cash flow pressures.
Non-payment of CQC registration fees	Per registration information	This could be an indicator of cash flow pressures.

Gearing indicators

Indicator	Formula	Description
EBITDA Leverage	Net Debt divided by EBITDA	To assess if the provider has too much debt when compared to standard bank lending criteria. Business failure risk increases as debt increases because it reduces the flexibility of a Provider to respond to a deterioration in trading performance. Net debt levels above 6x EBITDA may require further investigation to ensure it is sustainable. The definition of Net debt will be agreed with the provider at the outset due to the variation in financing structures (e.g. shareholder loans) and associated risk profiles.
Adjusted EBITDA Leverage	Lease adjusted Net Debt divided by EBITDAR	This is similar to EBITDA leverage, except Net debt also includes the net present value of long term operating lease obligations (i.e. property leases) and rent has been excluded from EBITDA. Operating lease obligations are not included in the balance sheet under accounting rules, however, these are contractual payments which will need to be funded from future profits and may have an impact on business failure risk.
Net Tangible Worth	Total tangible assets minus total liabilities and deferred tax	To understand the tangible net asset position of the provider, to assess the level of security available to support debt and to ensure there are sufficient assets to meet liabilities as they fall due.
Loan to Value	Net Debt divided by Asset Value multiplied by 100%	To understand the level of security available to support debt. Were available, this will be based on independent valuations rather than the asset value in the balance sheet, as this may provide a more accurate view of security value.

Debt payment indicators

Indicator	Formula	Description
Interest Cover	EBITDA divided by Finance Charges	To understand if the provider is generating sufficient profit to pay the interest on its debt.
Rental Cover	EBITDAR divided by Rent	To understand if the provider is generating sufficient profit to pay its operating lease obligations as they fall due. Asset type will be taken into account.

Cash Flow Cover	CFADS divided by Debt Service Costs	To understand if the provider is generating sufficient cash to pay all of its debt (interest and capital repayments) and rent as they fall due for payment.
Refinancing date	Per submission	To understand when loans on the balance sheet are due for repayment and when they need to be refinanced.

Qualitative risk questions

1. Are you in breach of Bank Covenants?
2. Has your Lender requested an Independent Business Review?
3. Have you received a Reservation of Rights letter from your Lenders?
4. Are you paying your rental payments in full to your Landlords?
5. Are you in restructuring negotiations with your Lenders and/or Landlords?
6. Has your debt been sold to a third party?
7. Have you entered into a "Time To Pay" arrangement with HMRC?
8. Have you received a qualified audit report or an "emphasis of matter" statement from your Auditor in your statutory accounts in the last two years?

Quality Indicators

- Location and domain-level quality ratings.
- Numbers of locations fully compliant out of the total number of locations.
- Number of non-compliant locations by outcomes area.
- Numbers of locations without a registered manager.
- Statutory notifications outliers – unusually high or low levels of deaths, serious injury, abuse and locations making no notifications at all.
- Numbers of enforcement actions issued.
- Numbers of safeguarding and whistle-blowing alerts.
- Number of complaints about the provider.
- Staffing information (numbers and qualifications) from Skills for Care.

Appendix E: Example risk scenarios and CQC's likely response

The following scenarios relate to a hypothetical provider and describe its journey through the Market Oversight assessment process. The CQC responses are what we may be likely to do but our response will always be tailored to specific circumstances and so, in real situations, may differ to what is shown here.

Scenario 1

A provider has submitted its Financial Submission Template data and initial analysis has highlighted the following:

- The Business has been expanding by acquiring several smaller businesses. This has been largely funded using bank debt provided by a syndicate of three lenders.
- Debt levels are high with EBITDA Leverage exceeding 7x.
- Loan capital repayments increase over time to reflect the forecast increase in profitability due to the cost savings expected from combining the businesses. As such Cash Flow Cover is greater than 1.1x at present (i.e. debts can be serviced).
- A Business Plan is available to support the loan repayment profile.
- The business has a good quality track record.

Our likely response:

- Provider moves to Stage 4 of the operating model: Provider engagement on risk.
- CQC requests the provider risk assessment meeting to understand the reasons for the high debt level and progress against the Business Plan.
- A copy of the Business Plan is requested to check loan repayments can be repaid.
- Business returns to regular monitoring with further risk analysis performed each quarter to monitor trading trends and performance against the business plan.

Scenario 2

- Quality indicators are showing problems in one of the acquired businesses.
- Trading indicators show a decline in EBITDAR (i.e. profitability).
- Cash Flow Cover has fallen below 1x and there is a risk the next loan repayment cannot be made in full.
- Via the CQC operational lead, management have stated that the decline in performance is due to isolated operational problems which are in the process of being rectified. Also, shareholders have agreed to inject some cash to cover the next loan repayment.

Our likely response:

- Provider moves to Stage 5 of the operating model: Regulatory action & engagement.
- CQC requests the provider risk assessment meeting to understand the reasons behind the decline in performance.
- Quality inspections and supporting action plans are reviewed. Additional inspections may be arranged to check on progress.
- Stakeholder engagement: with the consent of the provider, CQC speak to the shareholders to confirm their support with the loan repayment.
- Assuming shareholder support is confirmed, the Business returns to regular monitoring with further risk analysis performed each quarter to monitor trading trends.

Scenario 3

- Quality indicators are showing no signs of improvement.
- EBITDAR (i.e. profitability) has continued to deteriorate and EBITDA Leverage is now greater than 8x.
- Cash Flow Cover is less than 1x and the business appears unable to service the loan repayment profile.
- Lending Covenants are in breach but a Reservation of Rights letter has been issued and an Independent Business Review has been requested by the lenders.
- Management are unable to provide clarity on the position of the shareholders.

Our likely response:

- Reaches Stage 5 of the operating model: Regulatory action & engagement.
- Stakeholder engagement 1: with Provider permission, the CQC speak to the shareholders to ascertain their support.
- Stakeholder engagement 2: with Provider permission, the CQC speaks to the Lenders to ascertain their likely course of action following the covenant breach.
- Independent Business Review (IBR): CQC considers appointing its own advisors to review the IBR and to maintain close links throughout the restructuring process.
- Business remains at Stage 5 until restructuring negotiations are concluded.

Scenario 4

- The IBR has identified concerns over the sustainability of the business as costs savings are lower than expected and quality issues have resulted in lower sales.
- Management have prepared a Turnaround Plan but this requires the Lenders to agree to a debt write-off and a cash injection from shareholders.
- Quality inspections are showing improvement in response to the Turnaround Plan but financial sustainability concerns remain due to the level of debt.

- Lenders have stated they are looking at all their options, including contingency planning.

Our likely response:

- Remains at Stage 5 of the operating model: Regulatory action & engagement.
- Stakeholder engagement: level of CQC engagement with lenders and shareholders increases. Close links are maintained throughout the restructuring negotiations.
- Risk mitigation plan: CQC requests a risk mitigation plan to understand the likely outcome of the restructuring negotiations and whether this could involve an insolvency process. Advisor support may be required as experience of these situations will be critical to make this judgement.

Scenario 5

- Restructuring negotiations are progressing with three potential outcomes:
 - i. Lenders and Shareholders support the Turnaround Plan and agree to write off debt and inject cash respectively.
 - ii. Administrator is appointed and the whole business is sold immediately with no impact on operational performance.
 - iii. Administrator is appointed and part of the business is sold immediately, with remaining business wound down and closed.
- The negotiations are fluid and the potential outcome is difficult to predict.

Our likely response:

- Using feedback from lenders and shareholders, we will make a judgement on the likelihood of the appointment of an Administrator and make a decision on notification to LAs. The timing will vary depending on the assurances that can be provided.
- We will speak with the proposed Administrator and understand the impact of the Administration strategy on the continued provision of regulated services.
- On the basis of this, we will consider if the three conditions for notification have been met. If they have, then we will inform Local Authorities.
- If not, the provider remains at Stage 5 and we continue to work closely with them and their stakeholders.

Appendix F: Information undertakings

The Care and Support (Market Oversight Information) Regulations 2014, require each registered provider within the Market Oversight Scheme to obtain an ‘information undertaking’ from their ‘group undertakings’ if requested to do so by the Care Quality Commission (‘CQC’).

CQC’s interaction with registered providers who are likely to be part of the Market Oversight Scheme is done largely at a corporate level, rather than at registered provider level. A number of registered providers may well come under the same umbrella of a larger corporate provider. CQC refers to these larger umbrella organisations as ‘Corporate Providers’. Formal regulation undertaken by CQC takes place at a registered provider level and this will not change. CQC, will however, bearing in mind its legal duty to reduce the burden of regulation on all concerned by interacting with what it refers to informally as ‘Corporate Providers’ thereby avoiding duplication in terms of information requested. The alternative to adopting this approach would mean that each registered provider (potentially hundreds) within a wider corporate group would need to enter into an information undertaking with group undertakings in their wider corporate group. So the same group undertaking could have potentially hundreds of information undertakings to which it could be a party. This illustrative document which is an example of a master ‘Information Undertaking’ between ‘group undertakings’ and registered providers for the purpose of the Market Oversight Scheme, shows how the burden on Corporate Providers and their wider corporate group could be significantly reduced.

The example document below would be a ‘living’ document that could be changed to accommodate acquisition/disposal of any registered providers/group undertakings from the perspective of the corporate provider.

This example is purely for illustrative purposes, it is not intended to be a definitive example of any agreement that may be entered into between a registered provider and their group undertakings. Furthermore this document should not be considered to be legal advice given by CQC to registered providers or their group undertakings in relation to their legal duties under the Market Oversight Scheme or for any other purpose. Corporate providers, registered providers and their group undertakings will need to seek independent legal advice in relation to their respective legal duties/obligations and their dealings with CQC.

ILLUSTRATIVE EXAMPLE

This AGREEMENT is an ‘information undertaking’

BETWEEN

- (1) each of the care providers registered with the Care Quality Commission (‘CQC’) listed in TABLE 1 (below) and referred to in the rest of this document as ‘Registered Provider(s)’:

AND

- (2) entities which are ‘Group Undertakings’ (listed in TABLE 2, below) of one or more of the Registered Providers named in TABLE 1.

.....

DEFINITIONS

Reference to the following terms within this Agreement:

- 'group undertaking(s)'
- 'information'
- 'information undertaking'

and the meaning of these terms is exactly the same meaning which is attributed to these terms in The Care and Support (Market Oversight Information) Regulations 2014.

TERMS

1. This Agreement is an 'information undertaking' given by the 'group undertaking(s)' listed in TABLE 2 to the 'Registered Provider(s)' listed in TABLE 1.
2. All Parties to this 'information undertaking' agree that this document is in a form which is legally enforceable by the Registered Provider(s).
3. Those entities listed in TABLE 2 UNDERTAKE to provide to the CQC such 'information' required for the purposes of Market Oversight as the CQC may request and in particular all of the following will apply:
 - (a) information will be provided at such times and such places as may be specified by the CQC;
 - (b) an explanation of any information will be provided at such times and such places as may be specified by the CQC;
 - (c) information and explanations will be provided in such manner or format as may be specified by the CQC;
 - (d) the entities listed in Table 2 will co-operate with the CQC in connection with providing information and explanations; and
 - (e) information and explanations will be complete and accurate.
4. Irrespective of any informal arrangements to the contrary it is and will always remain the responsibility of each Registered Provider to send to the CQC a copy of the 'information undertaking' entered into with their respective 'group undertaking(s)' and within such period as the CQC specifies.
5. This 'information undertaking' will remain in force for as long as:
 - (a) The legal entity required to provide information remains a 'group undertaking' of the Registered Provider; and
 - (b) Section 55 of the Care Act 2014 continues to apply to the Registered Provider.

6. The Registered Provider will inform the CQC immediately in writing if it becomes aware that—
- (a) the ‘information undertaking’ has ceased to be in force;
 - (b) the ‘information undertaking’ has ceased to be legally enforceable;
 - (c) any terms of the ‘information undertaking’ have been changed; or
 - (d) any terms of the ‘information undertaking’ have been breached.
7. The Registered Provider will comply with any request made by CQC to enforce the ‘information undertaking’.

Appendix G: Equalities Impact Assessment

This section sets out how we have complied with equalities guidelines in designing the Market Oversight model.

Our approach to this work has been shaped by the responses to the Department of Health's consultation on the proposed market oversight legislation. In addition, we have worked in co-production with a range of stakeholders, sector groups and CQC staff to help design the model and how it will operate.

The first Government consultation took place on 1 December 2012, when it launched a consultation on a number of proposals to improve market oversight in adult social care. The public's response identified a number of themes:

- Universal support for clarification of Local Authorities' roles in local oversight and involvement so that all people in all forms of regulated care should be covered.
- Support for the principle of targeted national/regional oversight of 'difficult to replace' providers.
- Oversight should avoid being over burdensome on providers and focus on a set of key performance indicators similar to those used by lenders.
- Oversight should help prevent business failure but not prop up failing businesses.
- Mixed support for CQC to have greater powers to enforce compliance or to build the oversight regime around our current enforcement powers.
- People wanted a system that involved and informed them about business failure.

We have engaged with the providers, lenders and service user support groups about our new approach. For example, we:

- Publicised the new market oversight duty on our website inviting the public to comment via our enquiries email address and online form.
- Extended an invitation to providers and professionals to be involved in our online community forum.
- Hosted four co-production events to involve stakeholders in the development of our market oversight operating model.
- Commissioned Oxford Brookes University to examine market stability within adult social care, and its relationship with the forthcoming market oversight regime, to help develop our thinking and to canvas external views about the regime. Care providers, regulators, charity groups and lenders were involved in the development of the report.
- Carried out social media activity to promote the signposting document.

- Convened an external market oversight working group with representatives from care providers, regulators and other stakeholder groups to help advise on our market oversight preparations and the design of the operating model.

In developing this guidance for the adult social care Market Oversight Scheme, we have reviewed the Department of Health's Market Oversight in Adult Social Care Impact Assessment which includes an equality analysis. The analysis did not identify any negative consequences and instead noted that the Market Oversight proposals would benefit groups sharing protected characteristics for two reasons:

1. Market Oversight would provide users of social care services, families and carers with greater peace of mind and improve their experience of the social care system.
2. Establishing contingency plans will create an opportunity for the Local Authority and provider to consider at an early stage the effects of failure and impact on continuity of care which will help lead to improvements for users even if provider failure does not happen.

Our co-production approach helped us develop an operating model which includes a risk escalation framework and takes into account human rights principles of equality and inclusiveness.

Several of the proposals are likely to have positive implications for human rights. In particular, market oversight will ensure that all users of adult social care services will be protected from the failure of difficult to replace providers regardless of whether users are publicly funded or self-funding. Service providers and their stakeholders will also be encouraged to discuss how services could be improved to ensure that the business remains sustainable and where there is failure, how this can best be dealt with.
