Summary of this inspection

Why we carried out this inspection

---

This was a routine inspection to check that essential standards of quality and safety referred to on the front page were being met. We sometimes describe this as a scheduled inspection.

This was an unannounced inspection.

How we carried out this inspection

---

We looked at the personal care or treatment records of people who use the service, carried out a visit on 31 January 2013, talked with people who use the service and talked with staff.

---

What people told us and what we found

---

People we spoke with were happy with the care they received at Riverview. We saw people were wearing appropriate clothing and footwear, were supported by staff in a respectful manner and we saw the staff supporting people to be independent. The home had conducted a resident / family survey in October 2012 and all the people who had completed the questionnaire said they were happy with the level of dignity and respect shown to the people who used the service.

You can see our judgements on the front page of this report.

More information about the provider

---

Please see our website www.cqc.org.uk for more information, including our most recent judgements against the essential standards. You can contact us using the telephone number on the back of the report if you have additional questions.

There is a glossary at the back of this report which has definitions for words and phrases we use in the report.

Our judgements for each standard inspected

Respecting and involving people who use services ✓ Met this standard

People should be treated with respect, involved in discussions about their care and treatment and able to influence how the service is run

Our judgement

---

The provider was meeting this standard.

We judged people's privacy, dignity and independence were respected.

Reasons for our judgement

---

During the inspection the Registered Manager told us they had recently employed a clinical lead who was having a positive affect on the quality of care. They had conducted training for staff on dignity and respect and led by example being an active member of the care team. All staff were now present at the handover of information between shifts which meant they all had an insight into any changes in the condition of people who used the service. We saw people who used the service being supported by staff in a respectful manner and we saw them supporting people to be independent. We saw people were wearing appropriate clothing and footwear. All rooms were equipped with curtains to maintain peoples dignity.

The home had conducted a resident / family survey in October 2012. Although only 10 of the 43 questionnaires had been returned all those who responded were satisfied with the care provided. They all said they were happy with the level of dignity and respect shown to the people who used the service. One person was dissatisfied with the heating provided but the home had responded with portable heaters where required until the current refurbishment programme which included up-grading the heating, was completed.

Although the service did not currently have an activities coordinator there were many activities on offer including music sessions and exercise classes, a singer who visited the home each month and hand massage. The staff also supported people with a variety of activities on a daily basis.

Staffing

✓ Met this standard

There should be enough members of staff to keep people safe and meet their health and welfare needs

Our judgement

---

The provider was meeting this standard.

We judged there were enough qualified, skilled and experienced staff to meet people's needs.

Reasons for our judgement

On the inspection we saw there were staff in all the communal areas, we saw no-one having to wait for assistance or support. The Registered Manager told us there were seven carers and two nurses working during the day and four carers and one nurse working during the night. This was supported by the four weeks duty rotas we reviewed. The home had designated nursing and residential units and these were staffed individually but the staff supported both units when required which ensured all peoples needs were met. The staff we spoke with told us they felt there were enough staff to support the people who used the service.

The home had conducted a staff survey in January 2013 and 27 of the 31 staff members had completed the survey. The results were mixed and demonstrated a team who were working through changes to their working environment and team. However it demonstrated that 22 staff had received appraisal in the last 12 months and the majority felt they had clear objectives for their personal development. The Registered Manager had not yet been able to analyse the information but action plans would be developed from the information in the survey.

About CQC inspections

We are the regulator of health and social care in England.

All providers of regulated health and social care services have a legal responsibility to make sure they are meeting essential standards of quality and safety. These are the standards everyone should be able to expect when they receive care.

The essential standards are described in the Health and Social Care Act 2008 (Regulated Activities) Regulations 2010 and the Care Quality Commission (Registration) Regulations 2009. We regulate against these standards, which we sometimes describe as "government standards".

We carry out unannounced inspections of all care homes, acute hospitals and domiciliary care services in England at least once a year to judge whether or not the essential standards are being met. We carry out inspections of dentists and other services at least once every two years. All of our inspections are unannounced unless there is a good reason to let the provider know we are coming.

There are 16 essential standards that relate most directly to the quality and safety of care and these are grouped into five key areas. When we inspect we could check all or part of any of the 16 standards at any time depending on the individual circumstances of the service. Because of this we often check different standards at different times but we always inspect at least one standard from each of the five key areas every year. We may check fewer key areas in the case of dentists and some other services.

When we inspect, we always visit and we do things like observe how people are cared for, and we talk to people who use the service, to their carers and to staff. We also review information we have gathered about the provider, check the service's records and check whether the right systems and processes are in place.

We focus on whether or not the provider is meeting the standards and we are guided by whether people are experiencing the outcomes they should be able to expect when the standards are being met. By outcomes we mean the impact care has on the health, safety and welfare of people who use the service, and the experience they have whilst receiving it.

Our inspectors judge if any action is required by the provider of the service to improve the standard of care being provided. Where providers are non-compliant with the regulations, we take enforcement action against them. If we require a service to take action, or if we take enforcement action, we re-inspect it before its next routine inspection was due. This could mean we re-inspect a service several times in one year. We also might decide to re-inspect a service if new concerns emerge about it before the next routine inspection.

In between inspections we continually monitor information we have about providers. The information comes from the public, the provider, other organisations, and from care workers.

You can tell us about your experience of this provider on our website.

How we define our judgements

The following pages show our findings and regulatory judgement for each essential standard or part of the standard that we inspected. Our judgements are based on the ongoing review and analysis of the information gathered by CQC about this provider and the evidence collected during this inspection.

We reach one of the following judgements for each essential standard inspected.

✓ Met this standard This means that the standard was being met in that the provider was compliant with the regulation. If we find that standards were met, we take no regulatory action but we may make comments that may be useful to the provider and to the public about minor improvements that could be made.

✗ Action needed This means that the standard was not being met in that the provider was non-compliant with the regulation. We may have set a compliance action requiring the provider to produce a report setting out how and by when changes will be made to make sure they comply with the standard. We monitor the implementation of action plans in these reports and, if necessary, take further action. We may have identified a breach of a regulation which is more serious, and we will make sure action is taken. We will report on this when it is complete.

✗ Enforcement action taken If the breach of the regulation was more serious, or there have been several or continual breaches, we have a range of actions we take using the criminal and/or civil procedures in the Health and Social Care Act 2008 and relevant regulations. These enforcement powers include issuing a warning notice; restricting or suspending the services a provider can offer, or the number of people it can care for; issuing fines and formal cautions; in extreme cases, cancelling a provider or managers registration or prosecuting a manager or provider. These enforcement powers are set out in law and mean that we can take swift, targeted action where services are failing people.

How we define our judgements (continued)

Where we find non-compliance with a regulation (or part of a regulation), we state which part of the regulation has been breached. We make a judgement about the level of impact on people who use the service (and others, if appropriate to the regulation) from the breach. This could be a minor, moderate or major impact.

Minor impact – people who use the service experienced poor care that had an impact on their health, safety or welfare or there was a risk of this happening. The impact was not significant and the matter could be managed or resolved quickly.

---

Moderate impact – people who use the service experienced poor care that had a significant effect on their health, safety or welfare or there was a risk of this happening. The matter may need to be resolved quickly.

---

Major impact – people who use the service experienced poor care that had a serious current or long term impact on their health, safety and welfare, or there was a risk of this happening. The matter needs to be resolved quickly

---

We decide the most appropriate action to take to ensure that the necessary changes are made. We always follow up to check whether action has been taken to meet the standards.
